JLL / HFF Inc. ("HFF"): JLL Global CEO Christian Ulbrich Video Script

1. What are you announcing today?

Today, we are pleased to announce that we are acquiring HFF, a leading provider of commercial real estate services with a focus on capital markets.

Many of you will be familiar with this organization, which is so widely admired within our industry.

The proposed combination is an exciting step in delivering on our long-term goals.

It will allow us to accelerate the growth of our Capital Markets presence in the U.S. and globally and create enhanced capabilities for our clients and an even stronger talent platform.

2. How will the transaction benefit clients?

This announcement is great news for clients.

Our Capital Markets services, both in the U.S. and globally, will leap frog.

Specifically, HFF clients will now get access to our global platform and our wide range of real estate services.

3. Why HFF?

HFF fits perfectly within our existing business.

We have always admired HFF for their expertise and leading reputation in the industry - especially in the U.S. They are well known for their decades-long relationships with clients and their talented leadership team.

Importantly, our two organizations are a strong cultural fit. Our companies share a culture of teamwork, ethics and excellence - and putting the client at the center of everything we do.

We share a vision for future success, and we truly embrace the idea of partnership.

That's why I couldn't be more delighted about the proposed combination.

4. How will the transaction benefit employees?

This is an exciting step for both organizations. It enhances our growth prospects and creates an even more dynamic environment for talent development.

We are very proud of the work that has been done to get us to this milestone. We are able to take this step because of the strong financial position of our company. And that's because of the dedication and excellence of our employees.

5. How will the transaction benefit shareholders?

• We are very confident that this acquisition will create significant value for shareholders of both companies.

• We expect it to be accretive to JLL's adjusted earnings per share in the first full financial year and generate strong pro forma cash flow, allowing for consistent and timely deleveraging.

• And because of the way the transaction is structured, HFF shareholders will be able to receive immediate value but also share in the significant ongoing upside that we see this combination delivering.

• We clearly think this is a great proposal for shareholders of both companies.

6. Why now? And what has been the path that has led you to this decision?

• As you know, two years ago, we unveiled Beyond, our strategic vision to drive long-term sustainable and profitable growth for JLL globally.

• Growing Capital Markets has always been a key element of our strategy, with a particular focus on the U.S.

• In looking at opportunities to grow Capital Markets, we have been clear that any target would need to closely align with our culture and strategic vision.

• I'm confident that the combination with HFF meets these criteria and is the best opportunity for us.

7. What are the things you're most excited about HFF bringing to JLL?

• One of the most compelling parts of this combination is the fantastic platform it will create for attracting, developing and retaining the best talent.

• You will all understand that I'm absolutely delighted that Mark Gibson, CEO of HFF, will be joining us. Mark and I have built a really great relationship. In the time we spent together, we came to understand that we clearly share the same values and focus on putting our clients and employees first.

• Mark and his leadership team have a superb track record. Combining our teams will create a position of true industry leadership.
