On May 29, 2008, Marvell Technology Group Ltd. ( Marvell ) issued a press release regarding its financial results for its first fiscal quarter ended May 3, 2008. A copy of the press release is furnished herewith as Exhibit 99.1 and is incorporated by reference herein.

Discussion of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to disclosing financial results calculated in accordance with GAAP, Marvell also reports adjusted net income and net income per share, referred to respectively as non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP net income per share. Non-GAAP measures exclude the effect of stock-based compensation, amortization of acquired intangible assets and restructuring costs.

Non-GAAP net income consists of net income (loss) excluding stock-based compensation expense as well as charges related to acquisitions and other charges and gains that are driven primarily by discrete events that management does not consider to be directly related to Marvell's core operating performance. Non-GAAP net income per share is calculated by dividing non-GAAP net income by adjusted GAAP weighted average shares outstanding (diluted). For purposes of calculating non-GAAP net income per share, the calculation of GAAP weighted average shares outstanding (diluted) is adjusted to exclude the benefits of SFAS 123R compensation costs attributable to future services and not yet recognized in the financial statements that are treated as proceeds assumed to be used to repurchase shares under the GAAP treasury stock method and also includes the dilutive/antidilutive effects of warrants, common stock options and restricted stock.

Marvell believes that the presentation of non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP net income per share provides important supplemental information to management and investors regarding financial and business trends relating to its financial condition and results of operations. While Marvell uses non-GAAP financial measures as a tool to enhance its understanding of certain aspects of its financial performance, Marvell does not consider these measures to be a substitute for, or superior to, the information provided by GAAP financial measures. Consistent with this approach, Marvell believes that disclosing non-GAAP financial measures to the readers of its financial statements provides such readers with useful supplemental data that, while not a substitute for GAAP financial measures, allows for greater transparency in the review of its financial and operational performance. Marvell has chosen to provide this information to investors to enable them to perform comparisons of operating results in a manner similar to how Marvell analyzes its operating results internally. Management also believes that these non-GAAP financial measures may be used to facilitate comparisons of Marvell's results with that of other companies in its industry.

Externally, management believes that investors may find Marvell's non-GAAP net income information useful in their assessment of Marvell's operating performance and the valuation of Marvell. Internally, Marvell's non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP net income per share are used by management in the following areas:

- Management's determination of pro forma EPS target-based stock-based bonus compensation for Marvell's executive officers;

- Management's evaluation of Marvell's operating performance;
- Management's establishment of internal operating budgets; and
- Management's performance comparisons with internal forecasts and targeted business models.

Edgar Filing: MARVELL TECHNOLOGY GROUP LTD - Form 8-K

Non-GAAP net income reflects net income adjusted for the following items:

- Stock-based compensation. Stock-based compensation relates primarily to employee stock options and restricted stock units issued. Stock-based compensation expense is a non-cash expense that is difficult to predict as its valuation is affected by changes in market forces, such as the price of Marvell's common shares, which is not within the control of management. Accordingly, management excludes this item from its internal operating forecasts and models.
- Amortization and write-off of acquired intangible assets. Purchased intangible assets relate primarily to existing and core technology, and customer relationships of acquired businesses. Management considers these charges non-cash in nature and unrelated to Marvell's core operating performance.
- Restructuring. Restructuring represents charges/losses that are not directly related to Marvell's ongoing or core business results. Management regularly excludes such items from internal operating forecasts and models because they are not considered a core operating activity for Marvell and because the frequency and variability in the nature of the charges can vary significantly from period to period. Excluding this data provides investors with a basis to compare Marvell against the performance of other companies without this variability.

The calculation of non-GAAP net income per share is adjusted for the following item:

- Non-GAAP net income per share is calculated by dividing non-GAAP net income by non-GAAP weighted average shares (diluted). For purposes of calculating non-GAAP net income per share, the GAAP weighted average shares outstanding (diluted) is adjusted to exclude the benefits of SFAS 123R compensation costs attributable to future services and not yet recognized in the financial statements that are treated as proceeds assumed to be used to repurchased shares under the GAAP treasury stock method. GAAP weighted average shares outstanding (diluted) also includes the dilutive/antidilutive effects of warrants, common stock options and restricted stock. Since Marvell's non-GAAP net income does not reflect the effects of these compensation costs, management believes these amounts should not be applied to the repurchase of shares in calculating non-GAAP net income per share.

Non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP net income per share should be considered supplemental to, and not as a substitute for, or superior to, financial measures calculated in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures have limitations in that they do not reflect all of the costs associated with the operations of Marvell's business as determined in accordance with GAAP. As a result, you should not consider these measures in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of Marvell's results as reported under GAAP. Marvell expects to continue to incur expenses similar to the non-GAAP adjustments described above, and exclusion of these items from Marvell's non-GAAP net income should not be construed as an inference that these costs are unusual, infrequent or non-recurring. Some of the limitations in relying on non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP net income per share are:

- Non-GAAP net income does not account for stock compensation expense related to equity awards granted to Marvell's employees. Marvell's stock incentive plans are important components of its employee incentive compensation arrangements and are reflected as expenses in Marvell's GAAP results under SFAS 123R, effective as of January 29, 2006. Prior to the adoption of SFAS 123R, Marvell's GAAP results reflect stock compensation expense under Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees and related guidance.

- While amortization of purchased intangible assets does not directly affect Marvell's current cash position, such expense represents the declining value of the technology and other intangible assets that Marvell has acquired over their respective expected economic lives. The expense associated with this decline in value is excluded from the non-GAAP net income presentation, and therefore non-GAAP net income does not reflect the costs of acquired intangible assets that supplement Marvell's research and development efforts.
