Closed-end funds have a one-time initial public offering and then are subsequently traded on the secondary market through one of the stock exchanges. The investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares may be worth more or less than the original cost. Shares of closed-end funds may trade above (a premium) or below (a discount) the net asset value (NAV) of the fund's portfolio. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Foreign securities are more volatile, harder to price and less liquid than U.S. securities. These risks may be enhanced in emerging market countries. ## Letter to Shareholders (unaudited)

December 8, 2011

Dear Shareholder,

We present this Annual Report which covers the activities of Aberdeen Emerging Markets Telecommunications and Infrastructure Fund, Inc. (the Fund) for the twelve-month period ended October 31, 2011. The Fund's principal investment objective is to seek long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in equity securities of telecommunications and infrastructure companies in emerging markets.

Net Asset Value Performance

For the year ended October 31, 2011, the total return to shareholders of the Fund based on the net asset value (NAV) of the Fund was (1.2)% assuming reinvestment of dividends versus a return of 1.9% for the Fund's benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Markets (EM) Telecommunications Services Index 10/40. Based on market price, the Fund's total return was (2.8)% during the period, assuming reinvestment of dividends.

Share Price Performance

The Fund's share price decreased 5.50% over the twelve month period from $19.08 on October 31, 2010 to $18.03 on October 31, 2011. The Fund's share price on October 31, 2011 represented a discount of 9.9% to the NAV per share of $20.02 on that date, compared with a discount of 8.3% to the NAV per share of $20.80 on October 31, 2010. As of December 8, 2011, the share price was $17.63, representing a discount of 11.2% to the NAV per share of $19.85.

Market Review

The Fund finished the year down modestly and trailed the MSCI EM Telecommunication Services Index 10/40 benchmark. The MSCI Emerging Market Telecommunications Index outperformed the broader MSCI Emerging Markets Index materially reflecting the comparative defensiveness of telecoms stocks.

The past 12 months has proved very challenging for equities. In the second fiscal quarter, Japan's earthquake and nuclear disaster sparked a widespread market retreat. Monetary tightening in emerging markets to tackle rising inflation, driven primarily by politically-sensitive food prices, as well as growing unrest in the Middle East, also worried investors. This then contributed to a spike in oil prices and other commodities. The debt crises on both sides of the Atlantic, accompanied by growing fears of contagion from Europe, coupled with political wrangling that took the U.S. to the brink of default, also triggered sharp falls in global stock markets.

Despite these economic woes, the growth of telecommunications has continued apace in emerging markets. There are now 5.9 billion mobile-cellular subscriptions. In developing markets, 25% of homes have a computer and 20% have Internet access, up from 20% and 13% three years ago. Indeed, by mid-2011 2G and 3G population coverage has reached 90% and 45%, respectively, in 2011 (The World in 2011 ICT Facts and Figures).

During the fiscal period, the major contributors to the performance of the Fund were principally telecoms as opposed to infrastructure stocks and included Mobile Telesystems, the Russian operator, Advanced Information Services, the Thai mobile operator, Taiwan Mobile, DIGI.Com, the Malaysian mobile operator, and Bharti, the leading Indian telecommunications operator. The exception to the infrastructure stocks was Ultrapar, the Brazilian energy company, which was also a strong performer assisted by strong results and an improvement in its corporate governance. The Fund also benefited from not holding a number of stocks that under performed, notably Turkcell and Reliance Communications.

Detractors from performance included Safaricom, the Kenyan operator, which has been confronted by tough competition, Vimpelcom, the Russian operator, which acquired Wind Telecom and America Movil, which has lagged in part as it awaits the result of an anti-monopoly filing. Two infrastructure stocks, Tenaris, which has suffered from margin pressure due to higher material costs, and Swire Pacific, also detracted from the Fund's performance over the period.

As discussed in previous reports, most of the Fund's private placement holdings are technology oriented venture capital funds. The most recent twelve-month period saw significant volatility in the equity markets as well as a decrease in the overall portfolio value. Write-ups or write downs of private placement holdings generally lag behind the recovery of or decline in the public markets. Increases are driven by increased acquisition, IPO and venture capital financing activity, while write-downs reflect the share price decreases of some public companies held by the private placement holdings and the manager's judgment with respect to any impairment of value.

Despite difficult and volatile markets that were the hallmark of the last twelve months, private placement holdings such as TCV IV benefitted from the appreciation of some holdings and were able to effect some successful exits. These exits were principally in holdings that had successful initial public offerings in the past.

Distributions in this period increased from the previous twelve months from $696,716 to $1,757,633. In the current period, two funds made significant distributions: Concord II ($598,954) and TCV IV ($523,482).

The investment pace of the funds decreased, ETF funded $22,500 in capital calls during the period, versus $278,666 in the twelve months prior. As of October 31, 2011, ETF had 6.1% of its total capital commitment still unfunded in its active investments. It is unlikely that the General Partner will implement capital calls for new investments.

Outlook

Growth continues to be moderate as domestic demand is showing signs of moderation owing in part to the lagged impact of tightening measures. External demand has also hit a soft patch mainly because of weakness in the U.S. and Europe. Manufacturing Purchasing Managers Index ( PMI ) points to further weakness as the global economy teeters on the edge of recession. However, more encouragingly, global food prices now appear to be trending downward. Of the forty Emerging Market countries that have reported September Consumer Price Index ( CPI ) inflation, only seven reported that food inflation was still rising in September and only ten countries reported an increase in headline inflation. Consequently, despite negative real interest rates, many central banks have paused their rate hiking cycles amid fears of a renewed recession. Monetary policy, therefore, is likely to remain accommodating with some countries including Indonesia, Brazil and Turkey having recently cut rates on concern over the global economic outlook.

Emerging economies continue to benefit from more sound fundamentals than developed economies which have an average public debt ratio of more than 100% of GDP, up sharply from 75% before the 2008 financial crisis and in sharp contrast to the average emerging market which has an equivalent ratio of just 35% of GDP. Indeed, most emerging economies are close to budget balance whilst developed economies are still running extraordinarily high deficits.

Again from an industry perspective, the outlook for mobile traffic forecasts is encouraging. The growing affordability and number of mobile devices such as tablets, dongles, smartphones and connected devices is expected to stimulate the growth in mobile data traffic. Machine-to-machine applications, social networking, video consumption and TV content are generating significant amounts of data on mobile networks prompting the ITU UMTS Forum (January 2011) to forecast total worldwide mobile traffic in 2020 to be 33 times that of 2010. It comes as no surprise that operators globally are looking to invest in 4G or Long Term Evolution ( LTE ) as they seek to deploy the most efficient technologies available to them. In a recent GSM/3G market / technology update the Global Mobile Suppliers Association note that some 248 operators in 87 countries are investing in LTE.

Infrastructure investment more generally also looks to provide attractive investment opportunities as governments seek to keep pace with fast-growing populations, associated urbanization and the additional infrastructure requirements which are driven by these developments this including roads, railways, power plants and of course telecommunications. A recent study carried out by Cambridge University and Royal Bank of Scotland Group suggested that infrastructure spending in emerging markets could reach US$20 trillion over the next 20 years, up 158% compared with the previous two decades. Asia is expected to account for around three-quarters of that.

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Organization

Aberdeen Emerging Markets Telecommunications and Infrastructure Fund, Inc. (the Fund) was incorporated in Maryland on October 12, 1993, and is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a closed-end, non-diversified management investment company. The Fund trades on the NYSE Amex under the ticker symbol ETF.

The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in equity securities of telecommunications and infrastructure companies in emerging markets.

Under normal market conditions, at least 80% of the Fund's net assets, plus any borrowings for investment purposes, are invested in equity and debt securities of emerging markets telecommunications companies and of infrastructure companies. In addition, under normal market conditions, at least 20% (but not more than 24.9% at the time of purchase) of the Fund's net assets will be invested in equity and debt securities of companies in the infrastructure industry.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The financial statements of the Fund are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP). The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of income and expenses for the period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The U.S. Dollar is used as both the functional and reporting currency.

(a) Security Valuation:

Securities for which market quotations are readily available are valued at current market value as of the Valuation Time. The Valuation Time is as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange (usually 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time). Equity securities are typically valued at the last quoted sale price. Effective January 1, 2011, if there is no sale price available, the mean between the bid and ask price provided by an independent pricing service approved by the Board is used. Prior to January 1, 2011, if there was no sale price, the last quoted bid price provided by an independent pricing service was used. Securities traded on NASDAQ are valued at the NASDAQ official closing price. Prices are taken from the primary market or exchange on which each security trades. Investment companies are valued at net asset value as reported by such company.

Most securities listed on a foreign exchange are valued either at fair value (see description below) or at the last sale price at the close of the exchange on which the security is principally traded. Foreign securities, currencies, and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. Dollars at the exchange rate of said currencies against the U.S. Dollar, as of the Valuation Time, as provided by an independent pricing service approved by the Board.

Debt and other fixed-income securities (other than short-term obligations) are valued at the last quoted bid price and/or by using a combination of daily quotes and matrix evaluations provided by an independent pricing service, the use of which has been approved by the Board. In the event such quotes are not available from such pricing agents, then the security may be priced based on bid quotations from broker-dealers. Short-term debt securities of sufficient credit quality, such as commercial paper and U.S.

Treasury Bills having a remaining maturity of 60 days or less at the time of purchase, are valued at amortized cost; which approximates fair value.

Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, or for which an independent pricing service does not provide a value or provides a value that does not represent fair value in the judgment of the Fund's investment adviser or designee, are valued at fair value under procedures approved by the Board. In addition, fair value determinations are required for securities whose value is affected by a significant event that materially affects the value of a domestic or foreign security which occurs subsequent to the time of the close of the principal market on which such domestic or foreign security trades and before the Valuation Time (i.e., a subsequent event). Typically, this will involve events occurring after the close of a foreign market on which a security trades and before the next Valuation Time.

The Fund's equity securities that are traded on a foreign exchange or market which closes prior to the Fund's Valuation Time are fair valued by an independent pricing service. The fair value of each such security generally is calculated by applying a valuation factor provided by the independent pricing service to the last sales price for that security. If the pricing service is unable to provide a fair value for a security, the security will continue to be valued at the last sale price at the close of the exchange on which it is principally traded, subject to adjustment by the Fund's Pricing Committee. This fair valuation model takes into account comparisons to the valuation of American Depositary Receipts (ADRs), exchange-traded funds, futures contracts and certain indices. When the fair value prices are utilized, the value assigned to the foreign securities may not be quoted or published prices of the securities on their primary markets.

The Fund values restricted securities at fair value. The Fund's estimate of fair value assumes a willing buyer and a willing seller, neither of whom are acting under the compulsion to buy or sell. Although these securities may be resold in privately negotiated transactions, the prices realized on such sales could differ from the prices originally paid by the Fund or the current carrying values, and the difference could be material.

The Fund also invests in venture capital private placement securities, which are classified as Level 3 investments. In determining the fair value of these investments, management uses the market approach which includes as the primary input the capital balance reported; however adjustments to the reported capital balance may be made based on various factors, including, but not limited to, the attributes of the interest held, including the rights and obligations, and any restrictions or illiquidity of such interests, and the fair value of these venture capital investments.

For the year ended October 31, 2011, other than described above, there have been no significant changes to the valuation procedures approved by the Board.

The Fund is required to disclose information regarding the fair value measurements of the Fund's assets and liabilities. Fair value is defined as the price that the Fund would receive upon selling an investment in an orderly transaction to an independent buyer in the principal or most advantageous market for the investment. The disclosure requirements utilize a three-tier hierarchy to maximize the use of observable market data, minimize the use of unobservable inputs and to establish classification of fair value measurements for disclosure purposes. Inputs refer broadly to the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk, for example, the risk inherent in a particular valuation technique used to measure fair value including such a pricing model and/or the risk inherent in the inputs to the valuation technique. Inputs may be observable or unobservable.

Observable inputs are inputs that reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, which are based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity. Unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances.

The three-tier hierarchy of inputs is summarized in the three broad Levels listed below.

Level 1 quoted prices in active markets for identical investments.

Level 2 other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3 significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments, information provided by the General Partner or investee companies such as publicly traded prices, financial statements, capital statements).

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Equity securities generally are valued at the last quoted sale price or official closing price reported on the exchange (US or foreign) or over-the-counter market on which they trade and are categorized as Level 1 securities. Securities for which no sales are reported are valued at the last quoted mean price provided by an independent pricing service. For international equity securities traded on a foreign exchange or market which closes prior to the Fund's Valuation Time, in order to adjust for events which occur between the close of the foreign exchange they are traded on and the close of the New York Stock Exchange, a fair valuation model is used (as described above). This fair valuation model takes into account comparisons to the valuation of American Depositary Receipts (ADRs), exchange-traded funds, futures contracts, and certain indices, and these securities are categorized as Level 2.

The following is a summary of the inputs used as of October 31, 2011 in valuing the Fund's investments carried at value. Refer to the Schedule of Investments for a detailed breakout of the security types:

Change in unrealized appreciation/depreciation relating to investments still held at October 31, 2011 is $(1,496,113).

(b) Short-Term Investment:

The Fund sweeps available cash into a short-term time deposit available through Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. ( BBH & Co. ), the Fund's custodian. The short-term time deposit is a variable rate account classified as a short-term investment.

(c) Foreign Currency Transactions:

Foreign currency amounts are translated into U.S. dollars on the following basis:

- (I) market value of investment securities, other assets and liabilities at the valuation date rate of exchange; and
- (II) purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses at the relevant rates of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions.

The Fund does not isolate that portion of gains and losses on investments in equity securities which is due to changes in the foreign exchange rates from that which is due to changes in market prices of equity securities. Accordingly, realized and unrealized foreign currency gains and losses with respect to such securities are included in the reported net realized and unrealized gains and losses on investment transactions balances.

The Fund reports certain foreign currency related transactions and foreign taxes withheld on security transactions as components of realized gains for financial reporting purposes, whereas such foreign currency related transactions are treated as ordinary income for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

Net unrealized currency gains or losses from valuing foreign currency denominated assets and liabilities at period end exchange rates are reflected as a component of net unrealized appreciation/depreciation in value of investments, and translation of other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies.

Net realized foreign exchange gains or losses represent foreign exchange gains and losses from transactions in foreign currencies and forward foreign currency contracts, exchange gains or losses realized between the trade date and settlement date on security transactions, and the difference between the amounts of interest and dividends recorded on the Fund's books and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received.

Foreign security and currency transactions may involve certain considerations and risks not typically associated with those of domestic origin, including unanticipated movements in the value of the foreign currency relative to the U.S. Dollar. When the U.S. Dollar rises in value against foreign currency, the Fund's investments denominated in that currency will lose value because its currency is worth fewer U.S. Dollars; the opposite effect occurs if the U.S. Dollar falls in relative value.

(d) Security Transactions and Investment Income:

Securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized and unrealized gains/(losses) from security and currency transactions are calculated on the identified cost basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date except for certain dividends on foreign securities, which are recorded as soon as the Fund is informed after the ex-dividend date. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Expenses are recorded on an accrual basis.

(e) Distributions:

On an annual basis, the Fund intends to distribute its net realized capital gains, if any, by way of a final distribution to be declared during the calendar quarter ending December 31. Dividends and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

Dividends and distributions to shareholders are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. These differences are primarily due to differing treatments for foreign currencies.

(f) Federal Income Taxes:

The Fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company by complying with the provisions available to certain investment companies, as defined in Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code, and to make distributions of net investment income and net realized capital gains sufficient to relieve the Fund from all, or substantially all, federal income taxes. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required.

The Funds recognize the tax benefits of uncertain tax positions only where the position is more likely than not to be sustained assuming examination by tax authorities. Management of the Fund has concluded that there are no significant uncertain tax positions that would require recognition in the financial statements. Since tax authorities can examine previously filed tax returns, the Fund's U.S. federal tax returns for each of the four years up to the period ended October 31, 2011, are subject to such review.

(g) Partnership Accounting Policy:

The Fund records its pro-rata share of the income/(loss) and capital gains/(losses) allocated from the underlying partnerships and adjusts the cost of the underlying partnerships accordingly. These amounts are included in the Fund's Statement of Operations.

9. Portfolio Investment Risks

(a) Risks Associated with Foreign Securities and Currencies:

Investments in securities of foreign issuers carry certain risks not ordinarily associated with investments in securities of U.S. issuers. Such risks include, among others, currency risks, information risk and political risk. Currency risk results from securities denominated in currencies other than U.S. Dollars that are subject to changes in value due to fluctuations in exchange rates. Information risk arises with respect to foreign securities when key information about foreign issuers may be inaccurate or unavailable. Political risk includes future political and economic developments, and the possible imposition of exchange controls or other foreign governmental laws and restrictions. In addition, with respect to certain countries, there is the possibility of expropriation of assets, confiscatory taxation, political or social instability or diplomatic developments, which could adversely affect investments in those countries. Other risks of investing in foreign securities include liquidity and valuation risks.

Certain countries also may impose substantial restrictions on investments in their capital markets by foreign entities, including restrictions on investments in issuers of industries deemed sensitive to relevant national interests. These factors may limit the investment opportunities available and result in a lack of liquidity and high price volatility with respect to securities of issuers from developing countries.

Some countries require governmental approval for the repatriation of investment income, capital or the proceeds of sales of securities by foreign investors. In addition, if there is deterioration in a country's balance of payments or for other reasons, a country may impose temporary restrictions on foreign capital remittances abroad. Amounts repatriated prior to the end of specified periods may be subject to taxes as imposed by a foreign country.

(b) Risks Associated with Emerging Markets:

The emerging countries' securities markets are substantially smaller, less liquid and more volatile than the major securities markets in the United States. A high proportion of the securities of many companies in emerging countries may be held by a limited number of persons, which may limit the number of securities available for investment by the Fund. The limited liquidity of emerging country securities markets may also affect the Fund's ability to acquire or dispose of securities at the price and time it wishes to do so.

(c) Risks Associated with Restricted Securities:

The Fund, subject to local investment limitations, may invest up to 25% of its assets (at the time of commitment) in illiquid equity securities, including securities of private equity funds (whether in corporate or partnership form) that invest primarily in the emerging markets. When investing through another investment fund, the Fund will bear its proportionate share of the expenses incurred by that underlying fund, including management fees. Such securities are expected to be illiquid which may involve a high degree of business and financial risk and may result in substantial losses. Because of the current absence of any liquid trading market for these investments, the Fund may take longer to liquidate these positions than would be the case for publicly traded securities. Although these securities may be resold in privately negotiated transactions, the prices realized on such sales could be substantially less than those originally paid by the Fund or the current carrying values and these differences could be material. Further, companies whose securities are not publicly traded may not be subject to the disclosures and other investor protection requirements applicable to companies whose securities are publicly traded.

(d) Risks Associated with Focus in a Particular Industry:

The Fund focuses its investments in the equity and debt securities of emerging markets telecommunications companies and of infrastructure companies. As a result, the financial, economic, business and political developments in these particular sectors of the market, positive or negative, have a greater impact on the Fund's net asset value and will cause its shares to fluctuate more than if the Fund did not focus its investments in these particular sectors.

10. Contingencies

In the normal course of business, the Fund may provide general indemnifications pursuant to certain contracts and organizational documents. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is dependent on future claims that may be made against the Fund and, therefore, cannot be estimated; however, based on experience, the risk of loss from such claims is considered remote.

Notes to Financial Statements (concluded)

October 31, 2011

11. Tax Information

Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP.

The tax character of distributions paid during the fiscal years ended October 31, 2011 and October 31, 2010 was as follows:

	October 31, 2011	October 31, 2010
Distributions paid from:
Ordinary Income	$4,411,059	$3,209,602
Total tax character of distributions	$4,411,059	$3,209,602

The tax basis of components of distributable earnings differ from the amounts reflected in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities by temporary book/tax differences. These differences are primarily due to timing differences due to partnership investments. At October 31, 2011, the components of accumulated earnings on a tax basis, for the Fund were as follows:

Undistributed ordinary income	$2,838,806
Capital Loss Carryforward	(815,248)
Unrealized Appreciation	$18,530,912
Total accumulated earnings	$20,554,470

For the year end October 31, 2011, the Fund had a capital loss carry forward for U.S. federal income tax purposes of $815,248. Capital loss carry forwards of $815,248 expire in 2018. It is uncertain whether the Fund will be able to realize the benefits before they expire. For the fiscal year ended October 31, 2011, the capital loss carry forward of $3,982,033 expired. The Fund utilized $1,663,728.

The United States federal income tax basis of the Fund's investments and the net unrealized appreciation as of October 31, 2011 were as follows:

Tax Basis of Investments	Appreciation	Depreciation	Net Unrealized Appreciation
$145,780,227	$37,829,842	$(19,269,752)	$18,560,090

GAAP requires that certain components of net assets be adjusted to reflect permanent differences between financial and tax reporting. Accordingly, during the current year, $(534,091) has been reclassified from undistributed net investment income and $(3,982,035) from paid in capital to accumulated net realized losses on investments and foreign currency related transactions as a result of permanent differences primarily attributable to partnership investments and the expiration of capital loss carry forwards. These reclassifications have no effect on net assets or net asset values per share.

12. Recent Accounting Pronouncements

Under the recently enacted Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010, the Fund will be permitted to carry forward capital losses incurred in taxable years beginning after December 22, 2010 for an unlimited period. However, any losses incurred during those future taxable years will be required to be utilized prior to the losses incurred in pre-enactment taxable years. As a result of this ordering rule, pre-enactment capital loss carryforwards may be more likely to expire unused. Additionally, post-enactment capital losses that are carried forward will retain their character as either short-term or long-term capital losses rather than being considered all short-term as under previous law.

In May 2011, FASB issued ASU No. 2011-04 Amendments to Achieve Common Fair Value Measurement and Disclosure Requirements in U.S. GAAP and IFRS. ASU No. 2011-04 establishes common requirements for measuring fair value and for disclosing information about fair value measurements in accordance with U.S. GAAP and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). ASU No. 2011-04 is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2011. Management is currently evaluating the impact ASU No. 2011-04 may have on financial statement disclosures.

13. Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated the need for disclosures and/or adjustments resulting from subsequent events through the date the financial statements were issued. Based on this evaluation, no adjustments were required to the Financial Statements as of October 31, 2011.

Effective November 1, 2011, the Fund's benchmark was changed from the MSCI EM Telecommunications 10/40 Index to the MSCI EM Infrastructure Index.

The Fund declared a quarterly distribution of $0.03342 per share payable on January 13, 2012 to shareholders of record as of December 30, 2011.

The credit facility with BBH & Co. was renewed for another year and will mature on November 9, 2012.

scheduled meeting after the Delegate's pre-approval of such services, his or her decision(s). The Committee may also establish detailed pre-approval policies and procedures for pre-approval of such services in accordance with applicable laws, including the delegation of some or all of the Committee's pre-approval responsibilities to other persons (other than Aberdeen or the registrant's officers). (i) the

The aggregate fees billed by PWC for non-audit services rendered to the Registrant, AAMISL and any Covered Service Providers for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2011 was $2,622,609

Total Assets are as of October 31, 2011 and have been translated into U.S. dollars at a rate of £1.00 = $1.6141.

There were 5 accounts managed by applicable PMs (with assets under management totaling approximately $1,194.00m) with respect to which part of the advisory fee is based on the performance of the account. The investment strategies of these accounts are significantly different from those of the Registrant, so the performance fee should not create any conflict between that of the Portfolio Manager (and consequently, the Investment Adviser) and the interest of the Registrant.

(3) The following is a description of the compensation structure for portfolio managers employed by Aberdeen Asset Management PLC and its subsidiaries, including the Registrant's Investment Adviser (the Aberdeen Group) as of October 31, 2011.

The Aberdeen Group recognizes the importance of compensation in attracting and retaining talent and has structured remuneration to include an attractive base salary, a discretionary bonus that is directly linked to one's contribution to the overall success of the Aberdeen Group and a long-term incentive plan for key staff members comprised of a mixture of cash, options, and shares. Overall compensation packages are designed to be competitive relative to investment management industry standards.

The compensation policy has been designed to deliver additional rewards through appropriate incentive schemes, both annual and long term. These are directly linked to performance at both a corporate and an individual level. The policy seeks to reward performance in a manner which aligns the interests of clients, shareholders and executives.

Each Aberdeen Group member recognizes that any remuneration policy must be sufficiently flexible to take into account any changes in the business environment. In accordance with this need for flexibility, the Aberdeen Group takes into account the overall competitiveness of the total remuneration package of all senior executives including some portfolio managers. When justified by performance, the at risk performance elements will form the most significant element of total remuneration for executive officers and senior employees.

Base Salary

The base salary is determined by prevailing market conditions and the compensation for similar positions across the industry. The Aberdeen Group uses industry compensation surveys as a tool in determining each portfolio manager's base salary.

Annual Bonus

The Aberdeen Group's policy is to recognize corporate and individual achievements each year through an appropriate bonus scheme. The aggregate incentive compensation pool each year is determined by the board of directors of the parent company, Aberdeen PLC, and is dependent on each Aberdeen Group member's overall performance and profitability. The pool is comprised of a base level plus an agreed proportion of each Aberdeen Group member's profitability.

Staff performance is reviewed formally once a year. The review process evaluates the various aspects that the individual has contributed to the Aberdeen Group, and specifically, in the case of portfolio managers, to the relevant investment team. Discretionary bonuses are based on client service, asset growth and the performance of the respective portfolio manager. Overall participation in team meetings, generation of original research ideas and contribution to presenting the team externally are also evaluated. Discretionary bonuses are not formally laid down and generally range from 10% to 50% of annual salary for portfolio managers.

In the calculation of each portfolio management team's bonus, the Aberdeen Group takes into consideration investment matters (which include the performance of the team, adherence to the company investment process, and quality of company meetings) as well as more subjective issues such as team participation and effectiveness at client presentations. The split between the two will vary but generally 80% of bonus will be determined by investment related matters, the remaining 20% will be more subjective in nature. To the extent performance is factored in, such performance is not judged against any specific benchmark and is evaluated over a broad time frame. The performance of an individual account is not specifically considered in the determination of a portfolio manager's discretionary bonus; rather the review process evaluates the overall performance of the team for all of the accounts they manage.

Portfolio manager performance on investment matters are judged over all of the accounts the portfolio manager contributes to and is documented in the appraisal process. A combination of the team's and individual's performance is considered and evaluated.

Although performance is not a substantial portion of a portfolio manager's compensation, the Aberdeen Group also recognizes that Fund performance can often be driven by factors outside one's control, such as (irrational) markets, and as such pays attention to the effort by portfolio managers to ensure integrity of our core process by sticking to disciplines and processes set, regardless of momentum and hot themes. Short-terming is thus discouraged and trading-oriented managers will thus find it difficult to thrive in the Aberdeen Group's environment. Additionally, if any of the aforementioned undue risks were to be taken by a portfolio manager, such trend would be identified via Aberdeen's dynamic compliance monitoring system.

Long-Term Incentives

As part of an effective remuneration package, a long-term incentive plan is used to structure the package so as to retain, motivate, and reward key staff members with a view to improving their performance and thereby increasing the value of the Aberdeen Group for the benefit of shareholders. Long-term incentive plans can be either cash or share based and typically vest over a three year period.
