Item 2.05 Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities.

On May 20, 2010, Polaris Industries Inc. (Polaris or the “Company”) issued a news release to announce its plans to realign its manufacturing operations and refocus on its core strategic manufacturing processes and will establish a new facility in Mexico.

The realignment will lead to the eventual sale or closure of Polaris’ Osceola, Wisconsin manufacturing operations over time. The realignment will begin immediately and is expected to be complete in 2012. The Company will look to have the new production facility in Mexico operational beginning in the first half of 2011. Polaris is currently in negotiations with several suppliers to sell certain non-strategic component manufacturing processes and equipment in the Osceola facility. If successful, Polaris’ intent is that the suppliers will continue to manufacture these components in the current Osceola location. Polaris will operate the Osceola manufacturing facilities during the transition period. Upon completion of the transition, Polaris will provide the affected employees severance benefits and work closely with the government agencies to offer employment assistance and other services.

The Company expects to record pretax transition charges to its income statement in the range of $20 million to $25 million and incur capital expenditures up to $35 million over the next few years related to the implementation of the manufacturing realignment. The Company expects the Osceola facility exit costs, comprising largely of one-time employee termination benefits, to amount to approximately a third of the total transition charges.

A copy of the news release announcing the actions is furnished as Exhibit 99.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K.

Item 9.01 Financial Statements and Exhibits.

Exhibit 99.1: News release dated May 20, 2010

Except for historical information contained herein, the matters set forth in Form 8-K, including management’s expectations regarding manufacturing realignment transition costs, are forward-looking statements that involve certain risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those forward-looking statements.
