(Attach Extra Sheets if Needed)

The delay in the Registrant's filing of its Form 10-K is due to the following two issues:

The Company believes it is appropriate to prepare additional supporting documentation with respect to its accounting for items which relate to a small portion of the Company's operations. Management does not believe that this effort will lead to a material change to revenues, operating expenses or net loss.

A terminated employee has made certain oral claims regarding certain of the Company's accounting practices. Although no claim has been made in writing, and management has investigated each of the oral claims and has concluded that they are without merit, management believes it is appropriate to conclude internal documentation and communication processes that involve the Audit committee in order to reach final disposition of this matter with respect to the filing of its Form 10-K.

Persons who are to respond to the collection of information contained in this form are not required to respond unless the form displays a currently valid OMB control number.
