ITEM 5.02. DEPARTURE OF DIRECTORS OR CERTAIN OFFICERS; ELECTION OF DIRECTORS; APPOINTMENT OF CERTAIN OFFICERS; COMPENSATORY ARRANGEMENTS OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.

On September 28, 2009, Polo Ralph Lauren Corporation (the "Company") entered into an amended and restated employment agreement with Tracey T. Travis, the Company's current Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer (the "Travis Agreement"). The term of the Travis Agreement is for three years, commencing on September 28, 2009 and terminating on the third anniversary of such date. Pursuant to the Travis Agreement, Ms. Travis will be entitled to an annual base salary of not less than $725,000 and will also be entitled to participate in any applicable annual bonus program that the Company maintains during the term of her employment. Ms. Travis is also eligible to participate in the Company's 1997 Long-Term Stock Incentive Plan, as amended and restated, and all employee benefit plans and arrangements of the Company for its senior executive officers.

Under the Travis Agreement, if the Company terminates Ms. Travis's employment for any reason other than death, disability or cause (as defined in the Travis Agreement), or Ms. Travis voluntarily terminates her employment for good reason (as defined in the Travis Agreement), Ms. Travis will be entitled to continue to receive, in accordance with the Company's normal payroll practices, an amount equal to her base salary for a severance period equal to the longer of the remaining term of the Travis Agreement or one year, plus an amount, payable at the end of the severance period, equal to the bonus that Ms. Travis received for the fiscal year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which her employment terminates. In addition, Ms. Travis will be entitled to continue her participation during the severance period in any group medical or dental plans in which she participated prior to the termination of her employment.

If Ms. Travis voluntarily terminates her employment without good reason, or if the Company terminates her employment for cause, Ms. Travis will be entitled to receive only her base salary through the date of termination. If her employment terminates due to her death or disability, Ms. Travis or her estate will be entitled to receive all payments due to her through the date of her death or termination due to disability. In addition, if Ms. Travis's employment terminates due to her death or disability, or she terminates her employment due to retirement, Ms. Travis will be entitled to receive a pro-rated amount, based on the percentage of time that has elapsed during the applicable performance periods, of the unvested restricted performance share units held by her, which shall vest at the end of the three-year performance period from the date of the grant, subject to the Company's achievement of pre-established financial goals. For death or disability, unvested stock options continue to vest according to their original vesting schedule.

If the Company terminates Ms. Travis's employment without cause within 12 months following a change in control of the Company (as defined in the Travis Agreement), then in lieu of the foregoing amounts, she will be entitled to receive a lump sum amount, payable within 15 days after the termination of her employment, equal to twice the sum of her annual base salary and the bonus she received for the fiscal year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which her employment terminates. In addition, any unvested options and unvested restricted performance share units held by Ms. Travis will immediately vest, and all vested options held by Ms. Travis will remain exercisable for six months.

Under the Travis Agreement, the above described amounts and any stock awards to be provided to her pursuant to the Company's plans are subject to her compliance with certain restrictive covenants. Any amounts due and payable to Ms. Travis upon termination of her employment will be subject to compliance with Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code.

The foregoing description of the Travis Agreement is qualified in its entirety by reference to the Travis Agreement which is attached hereto as Exhibit 10.1.
