Item 1.01. Entry Into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On November 5, 2009, Odyssey and OVH, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Odyssey (OVH), entered into three agreements related to a project to search for a shipwreck vessel code named Enigma.

Odyssey entered into a Sale Agreement with Charlesworth Marine Limited, a Guernsey company (Charlesworth), to sell information related to the Enigma and its sinking to Charlesworth. OVH entered into a Charter Party Agreement with Global Marine Search Limited, a UK company (Global), to furnish the vessel, equipment and crew to conduct a search for the Enigma for up to 125 days. In addition, OVH, Charlesworth and Global entered into an Enigma Completion Agreement that sets forth the terms under which payments will be made to the parties under the Charter Party Agreement. All of the agreements were executed simultaneously.

The three agreements provide a total cash amount of £2,104,700 to Odyssey as well as additional payments upon the sale of coins or artifacts from the Enigma project. After repayment of salvage costs and fees, Odyssey will receive 80% in aggregate of net revenue, if any, until an additional £11,899,200 has been received and then 50% of all further net revenue. These amounts are broken up between the contracts as follows:

Upon execution of the Sale Agreement, Odyssey was paid £485,000 for sale of the research file. Upon the sale of coins or artifacts from the Enigma project, Odyssey will receive 40.44% of net revenue after repayment of salvage costs and fees, until an additional £6,015,000 has been received. Thereafter, Odyssey will receive 15% of all further net revenue.

Under the Charter Party Agreement, OVH will be paid £1,619,700 for the charter which includes £809,850 upon execution of the agreement, £647,880 within 15 days, and £161,970 on the earlier of completion of the search or 110 days after the execution date. Upon the sale of coins or artifacts from the Enigma project, OVH will receive 39.56% of net revenue after repayment of salvage costs and fees, until an additional £5,884,200 has been received. Thereafter, OVH will receive 35% of all further net revenue.
