For the first quarter of 2013, the mobile services continued to grow rapidly with fast expansion in mobile customer scale and revenues. The number of mobile subscribers reached a total of 168 million, of which 78.07 million were 3G subscribers. The net addition of mobile subscribers was 7.41 million for the first quarter and the average mobile service revenue per user per month (ARPU) was stable as compared to that for the full year of last year. Facing the challenges from the new Internet technology and the intensified mobile substitution, the number of local access lines in service of the Group declined by 1.30 million in the first quarter. Services like Internet access and data services continued its robust growth momentum, which effectively offset the impact of decline in the wireline voice services. The wireline broadband subscribers reached 93.18 million, representing a net addition of 3.06 million. The fundamentals of the overall wireline services continued to remain stable.

The Company's operation was on track as planned for the first quarter of 2013. The operating revenues were RMB77,818 million, representing an increase of 14.6% from the same period of last year. Revenues from sale of mobile terminals were RMB9,234 million, an increase of 63.7% over the corresponding period of last year. Meanwhile, as a result of the corresponding significant increase in the costs of mobile terminals sold, other operating expenses increased by 41.4% over the same period of last year. The operating revenues excluding mobile terminal sales were RMB68,584 million, representing an increase of 10.1% from the same period of last year and continued to maintain robust growth. During the period, selling, general and administrative expenses of the Group increased by 28.7% over the corresponding period of last year mainly as a result of the Group's appropriate increase in marketing initiatives for the profitable scale development of its mobile services. In addition, only about one month's sales of iPhone were taken into account in last year's comparative figures. The Company has successfully acquired the mobile network assets at the end of 2012, leading to significant savings in the mobile network capacity lease fee from this year onwards. Hence, the network operations and support expenses for the first quarter of 2013 decreased by 26.9% from the same period of last year. However, the depreciation and amortisation expenses, meanwhile, increased by 41.9%, which was mainly due to the depreciation for the newly acquired mobile network. As the Company acquired the mobile network assets substantially in the form of debt financing, the finance costs and others increased by 213.5% from the same period of last year. The personnel expenses for the first quarter of 2013 decreased by 5.5% from the same period of last year, mainly because of the performance-linked remuneration for the first quarter being affected by the decline in the profit of the previous quarter. The profit attributable to equity holders of the Company was RMB4,696 million, representing an increase of 10.0% from the same period of last year. EBITDA was RMB24,927 million, an increase of 35.5% from the same period of last year. EBITDA margin (EBITDA divided by the operating revenues excluding mobile terminal sales) was 36.3%, representing an increase of 6.8 percentage points from 29.5% in the same period of last year.

A-3

Currently, the tide of mobile Internet sweeps globally while the industrialisation and informatisation development is accelerating in China. Meanwhile, the intensifying market competition, uncertain regulatory environment and rapid development of new technology offer the Company not only development opportunities but also new challenges. The Group will firmly seize this valuable golden opportunity to persevere with the deepening of strategic transformation and closely monitor and proactively respond to advancement of new technology and changes in regulatory policies.
