1. Notice of Convocation of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders for the 114th Business Term

To Our Shareholders

We are pleased to present our notice of convocation of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders for the 114th Business Term (from January 1, 2014 to December 31, 2014).

The global economy in the current business term, contrary to the initial expectation that it would return to a full-fledged growth path led particularly by the U.S. and Japan, fell short of the expectation as a result of a series of unforeseen developments, such as the conflict between Russia and Ukraine and the Syrian crisis in the Middle East. According to the data published by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the global economic growth was at the lowest rate since the Lehman's collapse and the business environment in which we operated was particularly challenging.

Even under such circumstances, the Canon Group implemented various measures with concerted efforts in all aspects of our business including development, production and sales. As a result, we not only maintained sales at about the same level as the previous term but also achieved profit growth for the second consecutive term.

For the term-end dividend, we will propose to pay 85.00 yen per share at the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders for the 114th Business Term. This is in appreciation for the ongoing support of our shareholders and for the purpose of realizing stable and proactive shareholder returns. Combined with the interim dividend (65.00 yen per share), dividends for this year will be 150.00 yen per share, up 20.00 yen from the 113th Business Term.

As for business conditions going forward, the global economy as a whole is expected to recover gradually, although the pace of recovery would vary depending on the country or region. In the 115th Business Term, which is the final year of Phase IV (2011 to 2015) of our Excellent Global Corporation Plan, the Canon Group will make united efforts to improve our business results to return to the growth path and build a firm foundation toward further development in the future.

We look forward to your continued support and encouragement.

General Business Conditions

During the current business term, the global economy remained sluggish contrary to the initial expectation due to, among others, the severe cold weather in the U.S., the conflict between Russia and Ukraine and the Syrian crisis in the Middle East. The U.S. economy recovered steadily led by personal consumption in and after April, whereas the European economy continued to be sluggish and weak. The Chinese government shifted its policy significantly toward the promotion of stable growth, while the rate of economic growth in emerging markets such as Russia and Brazil generally slowed down mainly due to weak export caused by declining recourse prices and stagnant developed economies. In Japan, the excessive appreciation of the yen was corrected and stock prices rose as a result of bold monetary policies, but the economy faltered in and after April due to the effect of the consumption tax rate hike and failed to recover from it by the end of this term.

Under this challenging business environment, the Canon Group, in the current business term, which is the fourth year of Phase IV (2011 to 2015) of our Excellent Global Corporation Plan, aggressively implemented various measures including the creation of outstanding hit products of existing core businesses, thorough holistic development of global sales forces, and exploration for a new dimension of cost reductions under the basic policy of Carry out further reforms in order to return to the growth track.

In the office multifunction devices (MFDs) area, sales of color machines were strong as we introduced a new A4 color multifunction device product, which is a type of product for which the demand is increasing. In addition, the sales revenue from Océ, which focuses on high-speed continuous feed printers, grew steadily and sales of OEM-based laser printers were also solid. In the area of digital cameras, on the other hand, we suffered declines in the unit sales of both interchangeable lens cameras and compact cameras, despite efforts to expand sales of mainly new products. As for inkjet printers, while sales in the consumer products did not grow, sales of consumables and large-format printers were brisk. Unit sales of semiconductor lithography equipment and FPD (flat panel display) lithography equipment grew solidly reflecting the recovery of the market conditions in each segment.

In addition to the above, we worked on the startup, expansion and development of new businesses. To this end, we carried out aggressive M&A activities. For example, as part of the efforts to accelerate the development of next-generation semiconductor lithography equipment, we included Molecular Imprints, Inc., which has the nanoimprint technology that can realize highly precise nano-processing, in the Canon Group as our wholly-owned subsidiary and renamed it to Canon Nanotechnologies, Inc. In order to strengthen our network camera system business,

Car design using MR system

Research and development for next-generation semiconductor lithography equipment

we also acquired Milestone Systems A/S, whose market share in the related software is among the highest in the world. Moreover, we focused on strengthening the business of the MR (Mixed Reality) system that combines real images and 3D-CG images as well as on the early startup of medical-related businesses such as DNA diagnostic systems and remote medical imaging services.

As a result, regarding the earnings for the current business term, on a consolidated basis, we recorded net sales at about the same level as the previous term at 3,727.3 billion yen (down 0.1% from the previous term), income before income taxes of 383.2 billion yen (up 10.3%), and net income attributable to Canon Inc. of 254.8 billion yen (up 10.5%). In the challenging business environment, the Canon Group successfully achieved a growth in profits.

On a non-consolidated basis, we recorded net sales of 2,084.2 billion yen (down 3.2%), ordinary profit of 249.3 billion yen (up 5.3%), and net income of 175.5 billion yen (up 3.0%).

In the office MFDs area, we launched C350/C250, our first A4 color machines in the imageRUNNER ADVANCE series, which have been selling well since the launch particularly in the U.S. and Europe. With the addition of the new products, we can now offer even more fine-tuned office document environment solutions, which is a major progress toward further sales expansion going forward. Sales of the imageRUNNER ADVANCE C5200 series, A3 machines that had been popular in the market, were also solid. Although sales of monochrome machines struggled to expand, sales of color machines were generally strong. As a result, the overall sales revenues from office MFDs including monochrome and color machines outperformed the results of the previous term.

Satera MF216n

Business-use A4 monochrome laser multifunction device with high productivity of 23 pages per minute, enhanced environmental performance and superior user convenience.

In the digital production printing systems area, we launched C800/C700, our first color machines targeting the light-production market in the imagePRESS series, which received a favorable reputation worldwide. Driven in part by these new products, sales of color machines expanded significantly and overall sales including monochrome machines also increased from the previous term.

Sales of Canon's laser multifunction printers (MFPs) and laser printers for small to mid-sized businesses were solid supported by sales growth in Japan and the Americas.

In the area of OEM-brand laser multifunction printers and laser printers, amid the unfavorable economic conditions particularly in Europe, unit sales remained flat, but the sales revenue rose from the previous term helped by the growth of sales of high-end models.

As for high-speed continuous feed printers, which are covered by Océ, sales of the Océ ColorStream 3000 series were strong.

imagePRESS C800/700

Color multifunction device that delivers high-quality printing through the use of new technology. Aimed at the light-production market, it offers consistently vivid colors even in mass volume printing, it supports various paper types, and it is well suited to a wide range of needs from commercial printing to in-company printing.

In the interchangeable lens digital cameras area, unit sales declined, partly due to generally challenging market conditions reflecting the weak economic conditions particularly in Europe and China. However, we maintained the No. 1 global share by expanding the product lineup, including the introduction of EOS 7D Mark II with an excellent high-speed continuous shooting capability and seven new interchangeable lenses and making aggressive sales promotion efforts. In the current term, cumulative production volume of interchangeable lenses for the EOS series since the commencement of production in 1987 reached 100 million for the first time in the world as interchangeable lenses for cameras.

Unit sales and the sales revenue of compact digital cameras declined as the overall market shrank, but the ratio of high value added products in the total sales increased.

Sales of digital cinema cameras were solid on the back of rapid changes in the market environment including the shift to 4K and more competition to lower prices.

Broadcast equipment delivered solid sales performance helped by sports-related demand as well as stable demand persisting particularly in emerging economies. Also, we introduced a zoom lens CN7x17 KAS S and received a good reputation in the market as it can be used for both broadcasting contents production and motion picture production while maintaining the existing compatibility with large-sensor 4K cameras.

In the area of inkjet printers, we introduced new products with improved interaction with mobile devices as well as models specifically targeting female customers, in addition to the launch of a new brand MAXIFY targeting business users, thereby responding to increasingly diverse demands. As the overall market is shrinking due to the slow recovery in the global economy, unit sales of inkjet printers decreased slightly, although the sales revenue from consumables increased from the previous term.

We achieved a solid increase in unit sales of large-format inkjet printers for commercial uses owing partly to the winning of business with major customers, which resulted in an increase in the sales revenue from consumables.

Nevertheless, since the decline in unit sales of digital cameras had a substantial impact, sales for this business unit decreased by 7.3% on a consolidated basis and by 12.3% on a non-consolidated basis, both in comparison to the previous term.

MAXIFY MB5300 series

New brand of business-use inkjet printer that offers high productivity and delivers high-quality printing with newly developed all-color pigment ink suitable for business usage.

In relation to semiconductor lithography equipment, memory manufacturers maintained aggressive capital investment on the back of strong demand for mobile devices such as smartphones. As a result, unit sales of FPA-5550iZ and FPA-6300ES6a rose significantly.

FPA-6300ES6a

Semiconductor lithography equipment employing a KrF excimer laser. It realizes a high throughput rate of more than 200 wafers per hour at the industry's highest level of overlay accuracy.

Network Camera System

Network cameras for monitoring capable of delivering full HD videos, including VB-H43, which delivers high image quality with reduced image data volume.

As for FPD lithography equipment, unit sales of the MPAsp-H800 series and other products grew as capital investment for large-sized panels, particularly 4K displays, increased significantly.

In the area of medical equipment, the sales revenue from our mainstay digital radiography systems increased from the previous term owing to the expansion of sales of high value added products such as high-image-quality wireless models equipped with an X-ray automatic detection mode.

As for network cameras, we enhanced the product lineup by launching new products that are suitable for a variety of indoor environments such as offices and large stores to bolster our sales expansion efforts. As a result, the sales revenue increased significantly from the previous term. In addition, we acquired Denmark-based Milestone Systems A/S, one of the largest vendors of video management software in the world, in order to further strengthen this business.

Sales revenues from document scanners manufactured by Canon Electronics Inc. increased helped by brisk sales in emerging markets such as the Middle East, South America and India.

Sales of both semiconductor film deposition equipment manufactured by Canon ANELVA Corporation and organic LED (OLED) panel manufacturing equipment by Canon Tokki Corporation declined as capital investment by corporate customers failed to recover. On the other hand, FA systems and semiconductor manufacturing equipment by Canon Machinery Inc. performed well and the sales revenue increased.

CXDI-701C/G Wireless

Wireless digital radiography system that captures high-quality, high-resolution diagnostic images. It is equipped with X-ray auto detection feature and Canon proprietary X-ray flat-panel sensors of 125-micron pixel pitch.

(2) Facilities Investment

The investment in facilities by the Canon Group during this term totaled 182.3 billion yen (75.4 billion yen by the Company), which are mainly as follows:

(3) Management Perspectives

As for the future of the global economy, although challenging conditions are expected to remain for some time in certain countries and regions, Canon anticipates sustained economic growth in countries such as the U.S. among developed countries, and India and ASEAN countries among emerging markets. Overall, the global economy is expected to gradually move toward stable growth.

Amid these conditions, the 115th Business Term is the final year of Phase IV of the Excellent Global Corporation Plan and the year in which the Canon EXPO will be held as the culmination of the efforts carried out during Phase IV. In addition to returning to a path of growth, Canon aims to bring Phase IV to a successful close, further reinforcing its business foundation to enable great strides beginning from next term. Toward this objective, Canon will undertake the following various measures.

Reinforcing Existing Businesses Through the Introduction of Innovative Products and Services

For MFDs and other office products, in addition to improving hardware performance, efforts will be made to build a framework that will enable Canon to provide a broad range of high-quality services as a one-stop shop. For cameras, efforts will be made to comprehensively enhance aspects such as image-quality, visual expression, and operability. At the same time, Canon will work to further strengthen the network capabilities of these products. Additionally, to facilitate Canon's aim of becoming the all-around leader in printing, it will leverage its strength, derived from having prepared a broad lineup, spanning consumer printers to industrial printing. In the industrial equipment domain, Canon will devise and execute concrete plans to concentrate technologies and strengthen the competitiveness of Canon Group companies.

Expanding New and Future Businesses and Further Cultivating Technologies that will Pave the Way to the Future

Canon aims to produce next-generation semiconductor lithography equipment in volume by strengthening nanoimprint technology that realizes further reduction in process geometries. In the area of network camera systems, Canon will work to enhance its product lineup and develop solutions that address customer needs. With regard to the MR system, Canon will identify industries that can leverage the strength of this system, and will strive to make the system the de facto standard design tool in those industries. In the medical domain, Canon will accelerate development, focusing on promising themes such as photoacoustic tomography, which facilitates the viewing of vascular conditions in 3D. Canon will work to expand and steadily cultivate new businesses mainly targeting the B2B domain, such as Super Machine Vision, a system capable of high-accuracy three-dimensional recognition of objects for potential use in production sites, and 4K reference displays.

Strengthening Global Sales Forces Through Unified Effort Between Product Operations and Sales Companies

In developed countries, Canon aims to gain share in both the consumer and office products domains. In the consumer products domain, Canon will address the popularity of online shopping and other trends that are contributing to the diversification of sales channels. In the office products domain, Canon will strengthen its response towards centralized procurement of office equipment by global corporations. In emerging markets, Canon will promote enhancement of its various sales networks and product lineup, in line with situations in each country and region.

Accelerating a New Dimension of Cost-reduction Activities

In the area of procurement, Canon aims to reduce total costs, further deploying measures focused on reducing costs from the stage of product development. In the prototyping process, Canon will create next-generation development methodologies, through such means as expanding the application of simulation technologies as well as employing 3D printing. In production, Canon will realize further cost reduction by expanding the application of automation equipment and taking measures aimed at the in-house production of molded parts and production equipment.

Building a Globally Optimized Production System

To maintain an optimized production system, Canon will take steps to revive domestic production, promoting measures such as automation and in-house production, while bringing its cost reduction structure to a whole new level. At the same time, Canon will promote localized production through the use of automation equipment in the U.S. and Europe.

In addition to these measures, Canon will promote other initiatives such as product quality reforms to win top customer approval, information security improvement, and human resource development.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

<Notes to Basic Significant Matters Regarding Preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements>

Significant Accounting Policies

1. Group Position

The number of consolidated subsidiaries was 261, and the number of affiliated companies accounted for by the equity method was 7.

2. Basis of Presentation

The consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (US GAAP) pursuant to the provision of paragraph 1, Article 120-2 of the Company Accounting Regulations. However, certain disclosures required under US GAAP are omitted pursuant to the provision of the latter part of that paragraph.

3. Cash Equivalents

All highly liquid investments acquired with an original maturity of three months or less are considered to be cash equivalents.

4. Translation of Foreign Currencies

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rate of exchange in effect at the balance sheet date. Exchange differences are charged or credited to income. Assets and liabilities of subsidiaries located outside Japan are translated into Japanese yen at the rates of exchange in effect at the balance sheet date and income and expense items are translated at the average exchange rates prevailing during the year. The resulting translation adjustments are reported in other comprehensive income (loss).

5. Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market value. Cost is determined by the average method for domestic inventories and principally the first-in, first-out method for overseas inventories.

6. Investments

Canon accounts for its debt and marketable equity securities as follows. Held-to-maturity securities are recorded at amortized cost, adjusted for the amortization or accretion of premiums or discounts. Available-for-sale securities are recorded at fair value. Unrealized holding gains and losses, net of the related tax effect, on available for-sale securities are excluded from earnings and are reported in other comprehensive income (loss) until realized. Realized gain and losses are determined on the average cost method.

7. Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are depreciated principally by the declining-balance method.

8. Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets

Goodwill and other intangible assets with indefinite useful lives are not amortized, but are instead tested for impairment at least annually in the fourth quarter of each year, or more frequently if indicators of potential impairment exist. Intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized over the respective estimated useful lives. Software is amortized on a straight-line basis over the period of three to five years. Customer relationship is amortized principally by the declining-balance method over the period of five years.

9. Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

Long-lived assets, such as property, plant and equipment, and acquired intangibles subject to amortization, are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. If the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its estimated undiscounted future cash flows, an impairment charge is recognized in the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds the fair value of the asset.

10. Basis of Recording Allowances

(Allowance for doubtful receivables)

An allowance for doubtful receivables is provided based on credit loss history and an evaluation of any specific doubtful receivables.

(Accrued pension and severance cost)

Pension and severance cost is accrued based on the projected benefit obligations and the fair value of plan assets at the balance sheet date. Unrecognized actuarial loss is recognized by amortizing a portion in excess of a corridor (i.e., 10% of the greater of the projected benefit obligations or the fair value of plan assets) using the straight-line method over the average remaining service period of employees. Unrecognized prior service cost or credit is amortized using the straight-line method over the average remaining service period of employees.

11. Taxes Collected from Customers

Taxes collected from customers and remitted to governmental authorities are excluded from revenues, cost and expenses in consolidated statements of income.

12. Stock-Based Compensation

Canon measures stock-based compensation cost at the grant date, based on the fair value of the award, and recognizes the cost on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period.

13. Net Income Attributable to Canon Inc. Stockholders Per Share

Basic net income attributable to Canon Inc. stockholders per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during each year. Diluted net income attributable to Canon Inc. stockholders per share includes the effect from potential issuance of common stock based on the assumption that all stock options were exercised.

<Notes to Financial Instruments>

1. Status of Financial Instruments

Canon invests in highly safe and short-term financial instruments.

Canon has certain financial instruments such as trade receivables and securities. Canon reduces the customer credit risk related to trade receivables in accordance with its credit management policy. At December 31, 2014, a major customer accounted for approximately 16% of consolidated trade receivables. Securities consist primarily of equity securities of the companies with which Canon has a business relationship.

Derivative financial instruments are comprised principally of foreign exchange contracts to reduce the risk. Canon does not hold or issue derivative financial instruments for trading and speculative purposes.

2. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The estimated fair values of Canon's financial instruments as of December 31, 2014 are set forth below. The following summary excludes cash and cash equivalents, trade receivables, finance receivables, noncurrent receivables, short-term loans, trade payables and accrued expenses for which fair values approximate their carrying amounts. The following summary excludes non-marketable equity securities accounted for under the cost method (balance sheet amount 1,164 million yen) as it was not practicable to estimate the fair value of such investments.

(Millions of yen)

	Carrying amount	Estimated fair value	Difference
Available-for-sale securities	41,698	41,698	-
Long-term debt, including current portion	(2,163)	(2,146)	17
Foreign exchange contracts:
Assets	265	265	-
Liabilities	(11,167)	(11,167)	-

The following methods and assumptions are used to estimate the fair value in the above table.

Available-for-sale securities

Available-for-sale securities are recorded at fair value.

Long-term debt

The fair values of Canon's long-term debt instruments are based on the present value of future cash flows associated with each instrument discounted using current market borrowing rates for similar debt instruments of comparable maturity.

Foreign exchange contracts

The fair values of foreign exchange contracts are measured using quotes obtained from counterparties or third parties, which are periodically validated by pricing models using observable market inputs, such as foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates, based on market approach.

Eyes for Robots to Control Industrial Robots RV1100 3-D Machine Vision System

Canon entered the future-growth machine vision market with the launch of RV1100 3-D Machine Vision System, capable of high-speed, high-accuracy 3-D object recognition. Used in combination with robot arms, the RV1100 improves production efficiency by facilitating the automatic high-speed supply of parts to factory assembly lines.

Canon launched the RV1100 3-D Machine Vision System and entered the machine vision market, which is expected to grow in the future.

This product takes the role of eyes for robots to control robot arms. It uses 3-D recognition of objects to enable robot arms to accurately pick up each of the items that have been randomly piled at production lines and supply them to the next production process.

The RV1100 3-D Machine Vision System is able to cut the time needed for initial registration of parts by automatically learning information on the shapes of parts. It also shortens work time through instant 3-D measuring of the positions and orientations of parts to be picked up.

This product employs 3-D recognition technology that has been newly developed based on the image recognition technology and information processing and optical technologies Canon has accumulated in its research and development for cameras and office equipment. Looking ahead, Canon aims to grow its business by also applying these technologies to automation in assembly and visual inspection operations.
