Item 8.01 Other Events.

On July 1, 2016, Robert Charnas, Ph.D joined Puma Biotechnology, Inc. as its Senior Vice President of Regulatory Affairs and Project Management. Dr. Charnas has more than 30 years of experience in the pharmaceutical industry, including extensive experience in regulatory affairs and project management. Dr. Charnas was a Compound Development Team Leader at Janssen R&D from February 2013 to May 2016, where he led the continuing development of Zytiga in prostate cancer and, starting in June 2014, the development of Listeria based therapeutics for the treatment of prostate and lung cancer. He served as Global Regulatory Leader for abiraterone acetate in the treatment of advanced prostate cancer through the phase 3 development program and approvals in North America, Europe and Asia from April 2008 to February 2013 at Cougar Biotechnology initially until acquired by Johnson & Johnson in July 2009. From July 2003 to April 2008, Dr. Charnas served as global regulatory leader at Amgen for Neupogen (filgrastim), Neulasta (peg-filgrastim), and Xgeva (denosumab). From 2001 to 2003, he served as clinical leader for the antiviral famciclovir and as clinical project manager for lumiracoxib at Novartis in Basel, Switzerland. Prior to joining Novartis, he worked in the field of infectious diseases at Hoffmann-La Roche in Basel, Switzerland, where he held positions in the research laboratory and medical affairs, finishing as Regulatory leader for the development of peg-interferon alfa-2a in the treatment of Hepatitis C. Dr. Charnas received a B.S from the University of Michigan and a Ph.D. in Chemistry at Harvard University before post-doctoral training at the Université Louis Pasteur in Strasbourg, France and Harvard Medical School. He is a member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology and the Regulatory Affairs Professionals Society.
