McDermott Reports Growing Revenue, First Quarter Earnings

McDermott's growing revenue pipeline, key contracts from Saudi Aramco and BP and continued excellent operational performance driven by the One McDermott Way were some of the key factors that drove the strong first quarter 2018 financial and operational results reported April 24.

I am extremely pleased with the performance our team delivered this quarter and the strong traction we are getting in the market," said David Dickson, President and Chief Executive Officer of McDermott. "We achieved a significant milestone with over 84 million man-hours Lost-Time Incident ( LTI ) free as of March 31, 2018, demonstrating our continual commitment to safety. Our overall revenue opportunity pipeline remains strong at $25 billion, with our disciplined bidding activity during the quarter resulting in a substantial increase to bids and change orders outstanding. Further, our legacy loss making projects are now substantially complete. As market conditions improve for our customers, opportunities for the combined organization continue to increase as our customers remain enthusiastic about the vertically integrated solution a combined McDermott and CB&I will offer.

First quarter 2018 earnings attributable to McDermott stockholders, computed in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP), were $35.2 million compared to $21.9 million for the prior-year first quarter. McDermott operating income and operating margin for the first quarter of 2018 were $68.4 million and 11.3%, compared to $56.0 million and 10.8% for the first quarter of 2017.

McDermott reported first quarter 2018 revenues of $607.8 million, an increase of $88.4 million, compared to revenues of $519.4 million for the prior-year first quarter. The key projects driving revenues for the first quarter of 2018 were the Saudi Aramco LTA II Lump Sum, Saudi Aramco Safaniya Phase 5, Inpex Ichthys and Pemex Abkatun-A2 projects. The increase from the prior-year first quarter was primarily due to the settlement of a significant change order in Asia and an increase in activity in the Middle East.

David also highlighted McDermott's continuing success in completing a key milestone for the financing of the combination with the closing of the notes offering and our integration teams have identified potential incremental savings of $100 million in addition to the expected $250 million in annualized cost synergies previously announced. We are excited to complete our transformational combination with CB&I so that we can begin integrating our two companies and deliver on the significant value-creating benefits of the transaction," he said.

As of March 31, 2018, McDermott's backlog was $3.4 billion, compared to $3.9 billion at December 31, 2017. Order intake in the first quarter of 2018 totaled $321.2 million. In total, the revenue opportunity pipeline, including the backlog, was $25.0 billion as of March 31, 2018, an increase of approximately $0.5 billion from $24.5 billion as of December 31, 2017 and $5.4 billion from $19.6 billion as of March 31, 2017.

Forward-Looking Statements

McDermott cautions that statements in this communication which are forward-looking, and provide other than historical information, involve risks, contingencies and uncertainties that may impact actual results of operations of McDermott, including after the proposed business combination with CB&I. These forward-looking statements include, among other things, statements about backlog, bids and change orders outstanding, target projects and revenue opportunity pipeline, to the extent these may be viewed as indicators of future revenues or profitability, and the anticipated benefits of the proposed combination with CB&I. Although we believe that the expectations reflected in those forward-looking statements are reasonable, we can give no assurance that those expectations will prove to have been correct. Those statements are made by using various underlying assumptions and are subject to numerous risks, contingencies and uncertainties, including, among others: the ability of McDermott and CB&I to obtain the shareholder approvals necessary to complete the proposed combination on the anticipated timeline or at all; the risk that a condition to the closing of the proposed combination may not be satisfied, or that the proposed combination may fail to close, including as the result of any inability to obtain the financing for the combination; the outcome of any legal proceedings, regulatory proceedings or enforcement matters that may be instituted relating to the proposed combination; the costs incurred to consummate the proposed combination; the possibility that the expected synergies from the proposed combination will not be realized, or will not be realized within the expected time period; difficulties related to the integration of the two companies; the credit ratings of the combined businesses following the proposed combination; disruption from the proposed combination making it more difficult to maintain relationships with customers, employees, regulators or suppliers; the diversion of management time and attention on the proposed combination; adverse changes in the markets in which McDermott and CB&I operate or credit markets; the inability of McDermott or CB&I to execute on contracts in backlog successfully; changes in project design or schedules; the availability of qualified personnel; changes in the terms, scope or timing of contracts; contract cancellations; change orders and other modifications and actions by customers and other business counterparties of McDermott and CB&I; changes in industry norms; and adverse outcomes in legal or other dispute resolution proceedings. If one or more of these risks materialize, or if underlying assumptions prove incorrect, actual results may vary materially from those expected. You should not place undue reliance on forward-looking statements. For a more complete discussion of these and other risk factors, please see each of McDermott's and CB&I's annual and quarterly filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including their respective annual reports on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2017. This communication reflects the views of McDermott's management as of the date hereof. Except to the extent required by applicable law, McDermott undertakes no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement.
