Recent Developments

M/V Irini, a 69,734 dwt panamax size drybulk carrier built in 1988 was sold for scrap for approximately $3.9 million resulting in approximately $1.3 million gain on the sale. The vessel has been delivered to her new owners.

M/V Monica P, a 46,667 dwt 1998 built drybulk carrier entered into an approximately one-year charter contract at a gross daily rate of $7,500. The new charter will commence upon completion of its current charter on September 11, 2013.

Aristides Pittas, Chairman and CEO of Euroseas commented: During the first half of 2013, the containership market was quite volatile with periods and areas of low fixing activity being followed by times of higher fixing activity. The overall result has been a marginally improving market. The drybulk charter markets also slightly recovered from their latest lows but not to levels that would enable us to re-charter our vessels with expiring charters near their previous rate levels and this development is reflected in our quarterly results.

The general consensus is that both sectors have turned the corner and will continue recovering in tandem to an improving global economy. Consequently, both newbuilding and secondhand prices for both markets showed strength during the second quarter and registered noteworthy increases.

We also anticipate that the gradual recovery will continue in the remaining of the year and into the next one. We, therefore, continue to position Euroseas to take advantage of investment and fleet replacement opportunities. On this front, we have started taking advantage of the opportunities to renew our fleet, as we did with the sale of one of our oldest vessels, the M/V Anking, which we replaced by a containership, M/V Joanna, which is 9 years younger (99 built), almost twice the size of M/V Anking and more attractive commercially, for an incremental investment of about $2.2 million. We also have sold our eldest drybulk carrier, M/V Irini, for about $3.9m, and intend to replace it with a younger vessel.

We remain optimistic about the prospects of Euroseas also because of our low leverage, strong balance sheet and cost efficient operations. In that spirit, our Board decided to continue our quarterly dividend of $0.015 per share which represents an annual yield of about 5.8% on the basis of our stock price on August 7, 2013.

Tasos Aslidis, Chief Financial Officer of Euroseas commented: The results of the second quarter of 2013 reflect the depressed level of the containership and drybulk markets compared to the same quarter of 2012, the lower commercial utilization rate of the vessels (both ships we sold were idle for quite some time prior to their sale) and the loss we incurred on the sale of M/V Anking. The gain on the sale of M/V Irini will be booked in the third quarter.

Total daily vessel operating expenses, including management fees, general and administrative expenses but excluding drydocking costs, averaged $6,115 per vessel per day during the second quarter of 2013 as compared to $6,072 per vessel per day for the same quarter of last year, and $6,192 per vessel per day for the first half of 2013 as compared to $6,028 per vessel per day for the same period of 2012, reflecting a 0.7% and 2.7% increase, respectively. As always, we want to emphasize that cost control remains a key component of our strategy.

As of June 30, 2013, our outstanding debt was $54.1 million versus restricted and unrestricted cash of about $34.1 million. As of the same date, our scheduled debt repayments over the next 12 months amounted to about $17.6

million, inclusive of about $7.6 million of balloon repayments which may be extended. All our debt covenants are satisfied.

Second Quarter 2013 Results:

Excluding the effect on the loss for the quarter of the unrealized gain on derivatives, the realized loss on derivatives and the loss on the sale of a vessel, the adjusted net loss per share for the quarter ended June 30, 2013 would have been $0.12 net loss per share basic and diluted, compared to net loss of $0.04 per share basic and diluted for the quarter ended June 30, 2012. Usually, security analysts do not include the above items in their published estimates of earnings per share.

Adjusted EBITDA for the first half of 2013 was $(1.1) million, a 113% decrease from $8.3 million achieved during the first half of 2012. Please see below for Adjusted EBITDA reconciliation to net income/loss and cash flow provided by operating activities.

Basic and diluted loss per share for the first half of 2013 was $0.30 calculated on 45,319,605 basic and diluted weighted average number of shares outstanding, compared to basic and diluted loss per share of $0.32 for the first half of 2012, calculated on 32,558,052 basic and diluted weighted average number of shares outstanding.

Excluding the effect on the losses for the first half of 2013 of the unrealized gain on derivatives, realized loss on derivatives and loss on sale of vessel, the adjusted net loss per share for the six-month period ended June 30, 2013 would have been $0.23 per share basic and diluted compared to loss of $0.04 per share basic and diluted for the same period in 2012. Usually, security analysts do not include the above items in their published estimates of earnings per share.

(1) Average number of vessels is the number of vessels that constituted our fleet for the relevant period, as measured by the sum of the number of calendar days each vessel was a part of our fleet during the period divided by the number of calendar days in that period.

(2) Calendar days. We define calendar days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession including off-hire days associated with major repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys or days of vessels in lay-up. Calendar days are an indicator of the size of our fleet over a period and affect both the amount of revenues and the amount of expenses that we record during that period.

(3) The scheduled off-hire days including vessels laid-up are days associated with scheduled repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys or days of vessels in lay-up. We use available days to measure the number of days in a period during which vessels were available to generate revenues.

(4) Available days. We define available days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession net of scheduled off-hire days including days of vessels laid-up.

(5) Commercial off-hire days. We define commercial off-hire days as days waiting to find employment.

(6) Operational off-hire days. We define operational off-hire days as days associated with unscheduled repairs or other off-hire time related to the operation of the vessels,

(7) Voyage days. We define voyage days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession net of commercial and operational off-hire days. We use voyage days to measure the number of days in a period during which vessels actually generate revenues.

(8) Fleet utilization. We calculate fleet utilization by dividing the number of our voyage days during a period by the number of our available days during that period. We use fleet utilization to measure a company's efficiency in finding suitable employment for its vessels and minimizing the amount of days that its vessels are off-hire for reasons such as unscheduled repairs or days waiting to find employment.

(9) Fleet utilization, commercial. We calculate commercial fleet utilization by dividing our available days net of commercial off-hire days during a period by our available days during that period.

(10) Fleet utilization, operational. We calculate operational fleet utilization by dividing our available net of operational off-hire days during a period by our available days during that period.

(11) Time charter equivalent, or TCE, is a measure of the average daily revenue performance of a vessel on a per voyage basis. Our method of calculating TCE is consistent with industry standards and is determined by dividing revenue generated from voyage charters net of voyage expenses by voyage days for the relevant time period. Voyage expenses primarily consist of port, canal and fuel costs that are unique to a particular voyage, which would otherwise be paid by the charterer under a time charter contract. TCE is a standard shipping industry performance measure used primarily to compare period-to-period changes in a shipping company's performance despite changes in the mix of charter types (i.e., spot voyage charters, time charters and bareboat charters) under which the vessels may be employed between the periods.

(12) Daily vessel operating expenses, which includes crew costs, provisions, deck and engine stores, lubricating oil, insurance, maintenance and repairs and management fees are calculated by dividing vessel operating expenses by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period. Drydocking expenses are reported separately.

(13) Daily general and administrative expense is calculated by dividing general and administrative expense by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period.

(14) Total vessel operating expenses, or TVOE, is a measure of our total expenses associated with operating our vessels. TVOE is the sum of vessel operating expenses excluding drydocking expenses and general and administrative expenses. Daily TVOE is calculated by dividing TVOE by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period.

(15) Drydocking expenses, which include expenses during drydockings that would have been capitalized and amortized under the deferral method divided by the fleet calendar days for the relevant period. Drydocking expenses could vary substantially from period to period depending on how many vessels underwent drydocking during the period.

Adjusted EBITDA Reconciliation:

Euroseas Ltd. considers Adjusted EBITDA to represent net loss before interest, income taxes, depreciation, amortization, gain / loss on derivatives, and loss on sale of vessel. Adjusted EBITDA does not represent and should not be considered as an alternative to net income/loss or cash flow from operations, as determined by United States generally accepted accounting principles, or U.S. GAAP, and our calculation of Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to that reported by other companies. Adjusted EBITDA is included herein because it is a basis upon which we assess our financial performance and liquidity position and because we believe that it presents useful information to investors regarding a company's ability to service and/or incur indebtedness. The Company's definition of Adjusted EBITDA may not be the same as that used by other companies in the shipping or other industries.
