Dear Friend:

We are pleased to invite you to join us on August 26th at 7:00 AM at the Davenport Hotel, 10 South Post Street in Spokane, for a continental breakfast and a presentation showcasing satellite-delivered digital television and high-speed Internet access. George Jamison, of Hughes Electronics Corporation will explain how the proposed merger of the businesses of EchoStar Communications Corporation, the parent company of DISH Network, and Hughes Electronics Corporation, the parent company of DIRECTV, will improve both the cost and availability of pay-television and high-speed Internet services in Washington State. George Jamison is Corporate Vice-President of Corporate Communications for Hughes Electronics.

Of particular interest to you, we believe, will be learning how local channels could be available via satellite and how this service can benefit those in urban, suburban, and rural areas without access to cable TV, cable modem service, or digital subscriber lines. As folks who also believe that competition in the marketplace ultimately results in benefits to the consumer, we believe that we should all acquaint ourselves with some basic facts in what promises to be a vigorous debate.

Technology is a critical component in Spokane's efforts to better itself economically, and we are looking forward to learning how this type of venture can help to ensure a stronger economic future for all of us.

Please feel free to contact Serena Carlson at 624-7655 with any questions you may have and to RSVP for this event. We look forward to seeing you there.

Sincerely,

Jim West
