Edgar Filing: REGAL BELOIT CORP - Form 8-K

On December 9, 2004, REGAL-BELOIT Corporation (the Company) and U.S. Bank National Association, as trustee (the Trustee), entered into a First Supplemental Indenture in respect of the Company's $115,000,000 aggregate principal amount outstanding 2.75% Convertible Senior Subordinated Notes Due 2024 (the Securities). The First Supplemental Indenture amends the Indenture, dated April 5, 2004, between the Company and the Trustee (the Indenture) setting forth the terms of the Securities. The First Supplemental Indenture, which became effective as of December 9, 2004, is attached to this Current Report as Exhibit 99 and is incorporated herein by reference.

The Securities are convertible by holders into shares of the Company's common stock on a contingent basis under the circumstances described in the Indenture. Under the terms of the First Supplemental Indenture, the Company has irrevocably elected and agreed to pay only cash in lieu of common stock for 100% of the conversion obligation arising upon conversion of any of the Securities with respect to the principal amount of the Securities converted. The Company previously had the right to elect to pay cash or common stock, or a combination of cash and common stock, for the principal amount of the Securities converted. The Company has retained the right, however, to elect to satisfy any and all conversion obligations in excess of the principal amount of Securities in cash or common stock or a combination of cash and common stock.

As previously disclosed, the Emerging Issues Task Force of the Financial Accounting Standards Board recently reached a consensus position which could have required that the dilutive effect of contingently convertible debt instruments, such as the Securities, be reflected in the Company's calculation of diluted earnings per share for reporting periods ending after December 15, 2004. Previous accounting rules provided for the exclusion of the effect of contingently convertible instruments until the contingency had been satisfied. As a result of the amendments effected by the First Supplemental Indenture, the Company will not be required to include in a computation of diluted earnings per share that portion of the shares potentially issuable upon conversion of the Securities attributable to the principal amount of the Securities subject to such conversion. With respect to the Securities, the Company will continue to follow the Treasury Stock method of accounting for earnings per share, which requires a company to show dilution of earnings per share only if the average stock price of its common stock exceeds the stock conversion price of the convertible debt instrument, which is $25.56 for the Securities. Such dilution would be only for the calculated number of shares equivalent to the dollar value in excess the $25.56 conversion price of Securities.
