Brad Hatcher: "What I like about ICB is they are, you know, very very good at what they do. They understand the borrower's mind set. Whenever I have transactions that are difficult and they need somebody to understand and embrace and understand what the borrower wants, Imperial Capital is where I like to go."

There are not departments, there are always people working your deal so if we need an answer, we can get it very quickly. My last deal I did with ICB, we closed it in less than a month. A normal bank couldn't do that. I think they are very different in the market place because they will create a program for your borrower and for whatever type of loan you need. Whereas lot of banks are very stiff and rigid and if you don't follow the guidelines or go by the book, it's not going to happen and they tell you that, where Imperial Capital says we'll figure it out and will make it work."

Vincent Mastroddi

Mastroddi Construction

Vincent Mastroddi: Today I can't think of a bank I have done business with where decisions are not made by a faceless committee. All the decisions and all of the interaction I have had has been one on one with people I know on a first name basis. I needed to get started as quick as possible and the bank approved the loan in a very timely fashion. They actually laid out a safety net that going into it, I knew what it would cost to buy the property and the how much the construction cost would be. It is almost like they guarantee you success because they have the education that you may be lacking in certain areas and in today's market for national bank that treats you like that is almost unheard of.

Moshe Tress

Tress Property Management

Moshe Tress: Today's marketplace the way the realty trends are going, properties that makes sense to purchase today are properties that haven't recognize their value. We need the right type of lender who understands that as well and works with you. I found that Imperial Capital is that lender.

George Haligowski: Moshe, what makes us different from your other banks?

Moshe Tress: A promise is delivered, customer satisfaction is No 1 priority and you feel it on a daily basis...what they say is what they deliver. Which is a rarity again in today's market place. I found a great partner in your bank, Imperial Capital and I appreciate that...

George Haligowski: It's been pleasure doing business with you.

Moshe Tress: Same here, thank you.

George: See you around on the next loan.

Larry Peters: George I think it is about the personal relationships. Once you find the person and a lender who does what they say they'll do, you go back again and again. I also think ICB takes the time to understand the asset. ICB digs into the deal and they understand it before they commit to it.

George Haligowski: Well we really appreciate your business and I'm looking forward to having a next big loan from you guys. Let's go ahead and take a look at another opportunity.

Arnie Azios: Good. Let's do that.

George Haligowski: Linda, as a retail banking customer of Imperial, you virtually have any bank in Orange County to choose from. Why did you pick us?

Linda Sedeghi: I think initially because of your phenomenal CD rates that attracted us as the savings institutions and then after that once we got to know your banking staff the phenomenal customer service and being a very entrepreneurial type of business here in Orange County, we really value that personal relationship. I need a bank who can pick up the phone and call me. Imperial has proven themselves time and time again.

We're loyal we're going to stick with you guys and besides that, it's a really easy bank to work with there's not multiple layers of staff we can get right to the decision maker and the people we work with live in the communities we build. Narrator VO: With 260 full time associates, the company's national lending platform produced one billion dollars of loans during 2006, making ICB one of the most efficient banks in the country. Over twice the revenue and assets per associate than its peer group.

Times Square

George Haligowski: 2006 was a stellar year marked by our national expansion and our knowledgeable sales associates with a proven record of making deals work. It was further evidenced by our expansion into the Houston market by our opening our area office there and in addition receiving regulatory approval for opening our first depository branch outside California, in Baltimore, Maryland.

New York Stock Exchange Wall Street

This has also been a benchmark year because of our new listing on the New York Stock Exchange. Now a $3.4 billion dollar financial institution we have clearly demonstrated our commitment to transforming ourselves from a West coast bank to a national powerhouse, recording the highest level of internal production in our history.

Glendale Helipad

George Haligowski: With over $1 billion dollars in originations and total production of $1.6 billion dollars. A long way from our roots as a Western states lender with total assets of only $500 million back in 1995.
