PORTFOLIO MANAGER COMMENTARY

Dear Fellow Stockholders:

A convergence of factors created a very challenging market and continued to test investors' patience during the first half of 2002. While the economy showed signs of stabilizing, the pace of recovery remained in question. Despite double-digit losses for the major stock indices, it appears to us that pockets of irrational valuation persisted. Meanwhile, a media frenzy emerged, as management integrity, Wall Street credibility and corporate accounting practices came under intense scrutiny.

While one is never satisfied with negative absolute returns, the Blue Chip Value Fund held its own during this most difficult six-month period ended June 30, 2002. The Fund's Net Asset Value (NAV) declined 9.45%, while its benchmark, the S&P 500 Index, fell 13.16%. Although we were able to navigate the seemingly endless stream of bad news, the Fund ended the period with a smaller premium to NAV than at the beginning of the year, resulting in a negative market performance of 16.78%.

Over the past six months, our best performing sector on an absolute basis was again capital goods. Within that space, the Fund's aerospace and defense holdings, including Raytheon and General Dynamics, were up on the order of 30% due to the strength of increased defense and security spending in the wake of the September 11 attacks. While the near-term outlook for this group, in our opinion, remains positive, we have begun to add more industrial and cyclical positions in anticipation of the eventual strengthening of the economy. At the same time, we expect to gradually reduce our aerospace and defense exposure as valuations become less compelling.

Another positive for the portfolio was our limited exposure to the beleaguered telecommunications sector. In addition, strong stock picking among the companies we owned in the sector resulted in an overall decline that was nearly half the amount of the decline for the group as a whole. This combination added significantly to our relative performance. We further reduced our weight in the group late in the period as recent bankruptcies signaled further financial trouble ahead. We believe that it may be some time before a more constructive investment environment becomes evident in terms of rational capacity and pricing.

In contrast, economic, regulatory and credit concerns contributed to a disappointing showing in the utility group, particularly in the merchant energy segment. Although our research has identified this sector as one with considerable intrinsic value, we failed to correctly estimate the depth to which certain stocks could sink in the face of such pressures. We ultimately cut back our exposure and await a more favorable environment in which to invest.

While the economy has shown surprising resilience, the scope and sustainability of the recovery remain unclear. Consumer spending, which has been bolstered by low interest rates and mortgage refinancings, reveals continued strength yet carries a relatively high debt burden. In our opinion, the recent weakness in the dollar, coupled with the eventual prospect of higher interest rates and the long-overdue resumption of corporate technology spending, bear close watching. In light of these and other issues, most notably the well-documented accounting and management scandals, the road ahead is anything but certain. Nevertheless, our focus is squarely on finding individual companies whose positive operational and earnings leverage and company-specific fundamentals (cash flow generation, operational efficiency, balance sheet strength) are not reflected in their current valuation. We remain optimistic that the economy will recover, and that positive market returns will resume. As long-term investors, we believe we are poised to capitalize on these opportunities.

Sincerely,

/s/ Mark M. Adelman

Total investment return is calculated assuming a purchase of common stock on the opening of the first day and a sale on the closing of the last day of each period reported. Dividends and distributions, if any, are assumed for purposes of this calculation to be reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund's dividend reinvestment plan. Rights offerings, if any, are assumed for purposes of this calculation to be fully subscribed under the terms of the rights offering. Generally, total investment return based on net asset value will be higher than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is an increase in the discount or a decrease in the premium of the market value to the net asset value from the beginning to the end of such periods. BLUE CHIP VALUE FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2002 (Unaudited)

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Blue Chip Value Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified, closed-end management investment company.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

SECURITY VALUATION - Each investment security is generally valued at the last sale price at period end reported by the principal exchange on which the issue was traded or, if no sale is reported, at a value based on the average closing bid and asked price. When marked quotations are not readily available or when events occur that make established valuation methods unreliable, securities of the Fund may be valued at fair value determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Board of Directors. Short-term securities having a remaining maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost which approximates market value.

FEDERAL INCOME TAXES - The Fund intends to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code that are applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute all of its taxable income to its stockholders. Therefore, no provision has been made for federal income taxes.

INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS - Investment transactions are accounted for on the date the investments are purchased or sold (trade date). Realized gains and losses from investment transactions and unrealized appreciation and depreciation of investments are determined on the first-in, first-out basis for both financial statement and federal income tax purposes. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income, which includes interest earned on money market funds, is accrued and recorded daily.

DISTRIBUTIONS TO STOCKHOLDERS - Distributions to stockholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Distributions are classified to conform to the tax reporting requirements of the Internal Revenue Code. If the Fund's total distributions for the year (exclusive of long-term capital gains dividends) exceed its net investment income and short-term capital gains for such year, a portion of such undesignated distributions may constitute a non-taxable return of capital. The actual determination of the source of the undesignated distributions is made only at year end.

The Fund distributes at least 2.5% of its net asset value quarterly to its stockholders.

USE OF ESTIMATES - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and disclosures made in the accompanying notes to the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

6. CHANGE OF INDEPENDENT AUDITORS

On February 8, 2000, Ernst & Young LLP ("Ernst & Young") resigned as the Fund's independent auditors. During the Fund's fiscal years ended December 31, 1999 and 1998, Ernst & Young's reports on the Fund's financial statements contained no adverse opinion or disclaimer of opinion, nor were they qualified or modified as to uncertainty, audit scope, or accounting principles. During the Fund's fiscal years ended December 31, 1999 and 1998, there were no disagreements with Ernst & Young on any matter of accounting principles or practices, financial statement disclosure, or auditing scope or procedure, which disagreements, if not resolved to the satisfaction of Ernst & Young, would have caused it to make reference to the subject matter of the disagreement in connection with its report on the financial statements for such years. During the Fund's fiscal years ended December 31, 1999 and 1998, there were no events of the kind described in Item 304(a)(1)(v) of Regulation S-K under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

On February 8, 2000, after recommendation by the Board's Audit Committee, the Fund, by action of its Board of Directors, including a majority of the members of the Board of Directors who are not "interested persons" of the Fund (as that term is defined in the 1940 Act), selected Deloitte & Touche LLP ("Deloitte & Touche") as the independent auditors to audit the Fund's financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2000. During the Fund's fiscal years ended December 31, 1999 and 1998, neither the Fund nor anyone on its behalf has consulted Deloitte & Touche on items which (i) concerned the application of accounting principles to a specified transaction, either completed or proposed, or the type of audit opinion that might be rendered on the Fund's financial statements, or (ii) concerned the subject of a disagreement (as defined in paragraph (a)(1)(iv) of Item 304 of Regulation S-K) or reportable events (as described in paragraph (a)(1)(v) of said Item 304).
