Item 8.01 Other Events.

On Thursday, December 3, 2015, the District Court for the Northern District of California issued its claim construction order in Finjan, Inc. v. Proofpoint, Inc., et al, Case No. 13-cv-05808-HSG. Finjan, Inc. (Finjan) alleges infringement of eight U.S. patents in the litigation: U.S. Patent Nos. 6,154,844 (the 844 Patent); 7,058,822 (the 822 Patent); 7,647,633 (the 633 Patent); 7,975,305 (the 305 Patent); 8,141,154 (the 8,224,408 (the 408 Patent); 7,613,918 (the 918 Patent); and 8,079,086 (the 086 Patent), though allegations of willful infringement and infringement under the doctrine of equivalents were struck by the Court in April 2015. Proofpoint, Inc. and Armorize Technologies, Inc. (Proofpoint) seek declaratory judgments of non-infringement and invalidity of all asserted patents, all but two of which have been submitted for re-examination proceedings with the US Patent and Trademark Office.

The claims construction order addresses the constructions of seven disputed claim terms. Of the three terms that the Court decided to construe (i.e., for the 822, 633 and 408 Patents), the Court largely adopted Proofpoint s proposed language, which favorably aligns with Proofpoint s counterclaims for non-infringement and invalidity. The Court concluded that no construction is necessary for the remaining four disputed terms, concluding that the terms should simply receive the plain and ordinary meaning. Moreover, one of the terms which the Court declined to construe is no longer at issue in Finjan s infringement contentions and therefore is moot.

On December 4, 2015, the Court further issued an order granting in part and denying in part Finjan s motion to strike portions of Proofpoint s invalidity contentions. The order struck certain anticipation and obviousness theories that make use of excluded prior art references, but left intact Proofpoint s anticipation and/or obviousness counterclaims for each asserted patent.

The Court has set a Case Management Conference for December 9, 2015 to address, among other issues, the schedule for trial and resolution of pending motions. Trial is currently scheduled to begin on March 7, 2016. On December 17, 2015 the Court is set to hear Proofpoint s pending motion to strike infringement theories from Finjan s expert reports, Proofpoint s motion for non-infringement of six patents-in-suit, Finjan s motion for summary judgment of infringement of two patents, and Finjan s motions for Proofpoint s invalidity expert to conform to the Court s scheduling order.

Proofpoint intends to vigorously contest all claims of infringement in this matter, and to continue to pursue its counterclaims of non-infringement and invalidity for all asserted patents.
