

SPRINT Corp
Form 425
November 14, 2018

Filed by Sprint Corporation

Pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and deemed filed pursuant to Rule 14a-12
under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended

Subject Company: Sprint Corporation

Commission File No.: 001-04721

The following communication was emailed to employees of Sprint:

Dear partners,

There are two major components to our merger with T-Mobile – the regulatory approval process and integration efforts between our companies – and today I want to share updates on both.

From a regulatory perspective, Marcelo and I have assured you that we will provide updates whenever possible. You may recall a couple of months ago when the FCC paused the 180-day informal shot clock, explaining that it needed more time to review network engineering and business models.

Given the amount of information we have submitted to the FCC, we told you we were not surprised by the pause.

In fact, it is not uncommon for the commission to start and stop the clock in these situations.

During this time, we continued discussions with the FCC and its staff. So again, we were pleased on Tuesday when the FCC issued a public notice that interested third parties have 20 additional days to file public comments on our most recent filings. And the FCC explained that the informal shot clock will be restarted on Dec. 4. This means the 180-day period will run through early April, unless the FCC concludes that further pauses are appropriate.

We continue to feel encouraged by the regulatory developments, especially now that T-Mobile and Sprint leaders believe that our record is complete, except for responding to questions raised by the government. We are confident that we have submitted all the compelling evidence and analysis demonstrating that our merger is good for competition and good for consumers.

Edgar Filing: SPRINT Corp - Form 425

As you know, combining with T-Mobile requires careful and coordinated planning so that we are aligned and prepared from the start if the merger goes through to offer a seamless transition for our customers and employees.

We had daylong integration meetings Tuesday on our Overland Park campus with our Sprint and T-Mobile leadership teams.

I'm pleased to report that we had very productive conversations about many areas, including Retail, Care, Digital, Brand, Supply Chain and IT.

While the process can be complicated and there are many details to work through, the Sprint and T-Mobile teams are coming together and aligning on the right path forward. This will enable us to realize the benefits of this combination as soon as we complete the regulatory review process and close the transaction.

Thank you for your patience as teams from both of our companies proceed with our integration planning, and as the FCC and other agencies continue their review of the transaction. And as you learn more, I hope you are excited about the opportunities ahead for you as part of a stronger, more competitive organization.

This transaction represents the most important merger in U.S. history and an unprecedented opportunity to deliver the most advanced 5G network to every corner of America!

Before I sign off, please remember a couple of important deadlines this week. Friday is the final day to sign up for your 2019 benefits, so don't delay!

Also, because I really want all of you to take our eSPS survey, we are giving you a little more time in case you haven't had a chance yet to provide your honest feedback. Check your email for a personalized link to the survey, which closes at 11:59 p.m. CT Friday.

Your opinions matter and are what will make Sprint an even greater place to work, so thank you for taking eSPS seriously.
