On or around July 7, 2009, SNRG Corporation and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Texas Gohlke Partners Inc. (collectively the “Company”, “we,” and “us”), together with Rangeford Resources, Inc. (“Rangeford”), agreed to terminate the Assignment and Bill of Sale (the “Assignment”) entered into on or around June 12, 2009, pursuant to which, the Company was to sell (a) all of its right, title and interest in and to the oil, gas and mineral leases and wells located in and on certain oil and gas leases totaling an aggregate of 232.948 acres, located in Victoria County, Texas and including the rights to the Company’s M.G. Hensley Well #1 (collectively the “Property”), and (b) all materials, supplies, equipment, improvements and fixtures located on the Property, to Rangeford, for an aggregate of $100,000 in cash.

Additionally, on or around April 30, 2009, the letter of intent pursuant to which the Company had the right to acquire up to a 70% interest in Tianshui Yellow River Industry Co, Ltd. expired, and we do not intend to further pursue this acquisition.

On or around June 15, 2009, the Company disposed of its residual interests in the Gohlke Heirs "B" lease in settlement of corporate debt in the amount of $400,000.

The historical business of the Company has been the development and production of oil and gas and related activities. We have stopped pursuing this business strategy and will not be engaged in any segment of the oil and gas industry moving forward. It is our intention to dispose of all of our oil and gas interests.

With the disposition of our oil and gas interests, the assets of the Company will consist solely of a large quantity of rubber processing equipment acquired in 2005. The equipment was to be used for rubber devulcanization and the manufacture of products using devulcanized rubber. The Company does not own the technology required for this process at the present time.
