Toyota Housing Corporation to Head Toyota Home Sales Efforts

Tokyo -- TOYOTA MOTOR CORPORATION (TMC) announced today plans to strengthen its housing business by establishing on April 1 a sales company called Toyota Housing Corporation. The aim of the new company will be to more quickly and accurately understand customers' needs for timely and appropriate response in terms of product planning and sales.

Edgar Filing: TOYOTA MOTOR CORP/ - Form 6-K

Following the complete transfer of the product planning and sales functions of TMC's Housing Group to Toyota Housing Corporation, the new company will commence full-scale business operations on Jan. 1, 2004. It will strive to strengthen the public's awareness of the Toyota Home brand, which has become an established name in Japan's house-building industry and on which the new company's Japanese name (Toyota Home Kabushikigaisha) is based.

Toyota Housing Corporation's business will center on product planning for houses and condominiums and on sales, construction and maintenance of such units. It will also promote locally oriented sales efforts in close coordination with Toyota Home dealers and hire skilled and enthusiastic workers to strengthen its human resources.

Based on the spirit of "Innovation into the Future", TMC has also formulated a directional outline labeled "Housing Business 2010 Vision" meant to serve as a launch pad for strengthening TMC's housing business in the 21st century. From this new starting point, based on TMC's original mission "to contribute to society through making things", TMC aims to establish itself as a top company in the housing business by the end of the 2010s, consolidate the strengths of the Toyota Group and offer customers a wider array of housing-related services.

As a first step toward this goal, TMC has launched a new three-year plan from FY2003 in which it aims to be not only the sales leader of detached houses in the Tokai area, but to also strengthen its presence in the Tokyo metropolitan area and other key markets.

More...

TMC entered the home-construction business in 1975. Since then--under the banner of "truly wanting to make Japanese homes better"--it has provided an abundant lineup of products, including condominiums, built using its unit building system, steel framework construction method or residential steel framing technique.

This year it is placing special emphasis on the peace-of-mind elements of earthquake-durability, security and safety, and, in Aichi Prefecture, it is seeking to achieve three straight fiscal years as the No. 1 seller of detached houses.

Toyota to Introduce New Management System
Streamlined Board, New Managing Officers Aimed at Faster Decision-making

Tokyo -- TOYOTA MOTOR CORPORATION (TMC) announced today that following this year's general shareholders meeting in June it plans to introduce a new management system that features, among other enhancements, a streamlined board of directors and the new position of non-board managing officer.

With global competition growing evermore severe, the new management system is aimed at boosting TMC's competitiveness as the company strives toward objectives outlined in its 2010 Global Vision announced in April 2002. This system is meant to make the most of TMC's traditional strengths of placing at its management core people capable of understanding and putting into practice TMC's corporate principles and of practicing hands-on decision-making (genchi genbutsu*). It is also aimed at accelerating managerial processes by streamlining the number of board members and at speeding up operations by making the decision-making structure less vertical. At the same time, the system hopes to strengthen corporate auditing efforts by increasing the number of outside corporate auditors.

With the implementation of this new system, TMC targets further growth and development as a global company.

Highlights of new management system

Streamlined board of directors

The new board of directors will consist of 20-30 members of senior managing director rank or higher. Each will be appointed for a one-year term.

Non-board managing officers

Such officers (under a performance-based system) will number about 30-40 persons, each in charge of daily operations in specific fields/divisions, and include non-Japanese and younger appointees, as well as executives resident at TMC's overseas affiliates, whose numbers will be increased. Each will be appointed for a one-year term.

Less-vertical decision-making

Matters concerning daily operations in specific fields/divisions will be settled at no higher than the level of senior managing director; senior managing directors, as the highest authorities in their areas of supervision, will participate in overall management of the company while overseeing "on-site" decision-making related to their fields of operations.

Edgar Filing: TOYOTA MOTOR CORP/ - Form 6-K

Improved auditing

Outside corporate auditors will be increased--out of a total of seven corporate auditors, four will come from outside the company.
