Forward-Looking Statements

The information herein contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements are based on management's current expectations and beliefs and are subject to a number of factors and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements include statements about the proposed acquisition by Marathon of Ashland Inc.'s 38 percent interest in Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC and other related businesses. Some factors that could affect the acquisition and the anticipated financial effects include a favorable tax ruling from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, opinions of outside tax counsel, Ashland shareholder approval, Ashland public debt holder consents, and updated Ashland solvency opinions. These factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ materially from those set forth in the forward-looking statements. Marathon Oil Corporation has included in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, in subsequent Forms 10-Q and 8-K, cautionary language identifying other important factors, though not necessarily all such factors, that could cause future outcomes to differ materially from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

Janet F. Clark: The question is what happens if the MAP transaction does not get a favorable IRS ruling. There are a lot of alternatives that we are currently exploring that if we don't get all the favorable rulings that we need from the IRS that will enable us to still close the transaction, some of which may require modification, minor modifications to the transaction. I can tell you that from Marathon's perspective, we are very anxious to own 100% of MAP.

Janet F. Clark: Would we have to increase the transaction value, no, that's not contemplated at this time.
